ENVOYS NAMED BY FRANCE TO GET SURRENDER TERMS

BORDEAUX, June 19 (AP) — France met Germany's first request in her efforts for a "soldier's peace" today by naming a group of men who will receive from the Reich's government its expected severe terms for an end of the fighting.

ROME SAYS TERMS DEMAND ALL GOLD, TERRITORY SPLIT

ROME, June 19 (INS)—The German-Italian armistice terms embrace division of French territory, surrender of gold and credits and firm assurance that France henceforth will be included in the Axis blockade against England, according to information in Rome today.

In addition to drafting these terms in their historic meeting in Munich yesterday, Hitler and Mussolini drew up a final agreement for "more vigorous and broader continuation of military operations" on all fronts, it was said.

Terms of the armistice were set forth by the authoritative newspaper Popolo Di Roma coincident with announcement by the ministry of popular culture that Mussolini would return to Rome at an unspecified hour tonight.

OIL, METALS DEMANDED

They were:

1—Division of French territory between the German and Italian armies to prevent any further French aid to England.

2—French surrender of all gold and foreign credits.

3—Surrender of the gold and credits of all countries which declared war on Germany, including Poland, Norway, Denmark, Holland and Belgium.

(Inclusion in this last of Denmark, which was occupied by German troops without resistance, was not explained.—Editor's Note.)

4—Surrender of all raw materials and militarily useful goods such as oil and metals.

5—Guarantees of immediate re-

Diplomatic circles in Madrid said they had heard that France had accepted the German-Italian armistice terms, involving unconditional capitulation, the occupation of France until the war is over and the surrender of the French fleet.

The official Italian news agency reported from Basel, Switzerland, that Hitler had decided to demand capitulation "pure and simple" as a condition of an armistice with France.—Editor's note.

While the cabinet designated the plenipotentiaries Germany demanded as a prelude to peace negotiations, the scattered French armies continued resistance at some points.

International News Service in London said French political quarters believe Germany is demanding total capitulation in a manner so ignominious that France will be compelled to continue the war, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Bordeaux.

The same source said a communication to the French government from Germany contained no conditions for armistice, and it was believed that hostilities will continue several days before an agreement is reached—Editor's note.

In the main, the German advance continued to engulf French territory.

The Spanish ambassador, Jose Felix Lequerica, presented Adolf Hitler's reply to the French plea to French Foreign Minister Paul Baudouin at 8 a. m. The ministers, who remained on call all night, were telephoned and the cabinet met within an hour.

Ambassador Lequerica, who transmitted the plea of Marshal Petain for an end of the fighting, was reported to have attended the meeting.

MADRID PARLEY SEEN

The newspaper Figaro predicted that the French and German peace negotiators would meet in Madrid at the residence of Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

The names of the French plenipotentiaries were not announced. The government of the Reich will make known the date and place where they will be received as soon as they are announced.

The German reply considered by the cabinet demanded the naming of plenipotentiaries as a prelude to considering the French request for the ending of hostilities.

ENVOYS NAMED

The text of the communique issued after the cabinet meeting follows:

"The cabinet met at 9 a. m. under the presidency of President Lebrun.

"The cabinet learned that a communication from the government of the Reich had been transmitted by the ambassador of Spain in France.

"According to the terms of this communication, the government

Surrender of Fleet Seen Nazi Demand

By PIERRE J. HUSS

International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, June 19 (INS)—Unconditional surrender of France—including the French naval fleet—was regarded by qualified German sources today as the chief demand in the Hitler-Mussolini reply to the appeal of French Premier Marshal Petain for an armistice.

In German military quarters during the past month the avowed aim has been to fight the war to the bitter end and until Germany's foes capitulate as fully as did Poland, Holland and Belgium.

Such capitulation, these German sources declared, will produce the opportunity for reorganization of continental Europe in accordance with "Hitler's dream."

For that reason, it was stated, the Nazi advance has continued toward Bordeaux and against what remains of the French Maginot line, and there has been some hotter fighting since Petain's appeal for an armistice than before.

The "final hammering" will not cease until France is completely down, it is reported.

If the French naval fleet should join the British fleet, still further complications are expected. Such an eventuality, in the opinion of informed German quarters, would undoubtedly delay Hitler's order to cease firing.

According to authorities here, it is still uncertain whether Hitler and Mussolini will go to Berlin or Paris together to receive the anticipated French capitulation or whether they will delegate military officials for this task.

Now, German authorities said, both the Fuehrer and Il Duce are preparing for the "biggest goal of the whole war"—England. Great Britain, they predicted, will soon experience the full shock of the Nazi blitzkrieg.

12 Civilians Killed As Nazis Raid Britain

LONDON, June 19 (AP)—Britain counted 12 civilians dead and 13 injured today in the wake of an extended German air assault which swept along her east coast in the dark hours before dawn as if in response to challenges flung in the face of Adolf Hitler.

Seven of the raiders were shot down, according to the air ministry, which said that little damage had been done to military objectives.

Two infants and two young girls were among those killed.

Authoritative circles estimated that 100 German planes took part in the raids. They appeared over various parts of the coast during a period of three to four hours and their objectives obviously were airdromes.

Damage on the ground was very slight at Cambridgeshire, where a number of bombs fell in the street. Most of the civilian casualties were there.

U. S. Warns Hitler, Duce: 'Hands Off!'

WASHINGTON, June 19 (INS)—The United States today warned both Germany and Italy that the Monroe Doctrine still operates, constituting notice to them to keep hands off the Western Hemisphere.

The warning from Secretary of State Hull was conveyed to the axis powers upon his instructions by the American embassies in Berlin and Rome.

The language employed by American envoys in these capitals, it was said, was substantially the same as that in the joint resolution restating the Monroe Doctrine which has been passed by both Houses of Congress.

Great Britain, France and Holland—all of whom have possessions in the Western Hemisphere—have been notified by the State Department of the warning given to the two Fascist powers.

In public statements, Hull previously had indicated that the United States would oppose any transfer of possessions in the Americas, as a result of military conquest, from one European nation to another.

AXIS POWERS WARNED

This point of view was set out by him in a recent letter to Chairman Sol Bloom of the House Foreign Affairs Committee when the resolution containing a restatement of the Monroe Doctrine was first brought up for consideration.

Hull's present action goes much further, however, being a direct

U. S. SET TO NIP NAZI PLOT

By JOSEPH H. BAIRD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 19—The United States is prepared, after consultation with the other Pan-American states, to take vigorous action in suppressing any attempted Nazi coup d'etat south of the Rio Grande, International News Service learned today from an authoritative source.

This is the realistic explanation of the "good will" mission to South American waters of the cruisers Quincy and Wichita, understood to carry more than normal complements of marines.

Other cruisers, it was learned, may also steam southward soon on "good will" missions.

If no emergency develops, these latter ships probably will replace the Wichita and Quincy, which would turn their prows homeward. Contingents of marines, it is understood, are being kept in readiness to sail on short notice.

It was with Latin-America primarily in mind that the navy recently announced the formation of a special foreign service division of approximately 15,000 marines, to be divided between the east and west coasts.

Anxious interest of the State Department centers for the moment on Uruguay, where the Nazi movement has assumed its most vigorous form. The 10,000-ton Quincy has been sent there. German and Italian agents are reported active, too, in Brazil and Argentina.

In addition, the State and Navy Departments are keeping a watchful eye on the French possessions in the West Indies and French Guiana. A project is being considered to make them Pan-American mandates if, under the peace terms imposed by Germany on France, they are bereft of French administration.

Uruguay Fights Nazi Plotters

MONTEVIDEO, June 19 (AP)—After an all-night secret study of a special committee's report on charges of a Nazi plot to occupy Uruguay and turn it into a German colony, the Chamber of Deputies voted today to re-assemble June 24 to map a course of action.

The report declared that the existence of German motorcycle units composed of more than 150 persons each had been uncovered.

The investigation also said the German degation at Montevideo was directing Nazi propaganda in Uruguay and harboring under diplomatic immunity the chief of the Nazi units in the country, who was identified as Julio Daldorf.

MILITARY TRAINING PLAN FOR U.S. YOUTHS STUDIED

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)—The question of compulsory national service for American youth—now being studied by President Roosevelt—soon may be put squarely up to Congress, where a mixed reception was indicated today.

The chief exectuive discussed universal training during his press conference yesterday, saying that he might communicate with Congress on the subject within the next three or six weeks.

An Administration lieutenant, Senator Byrnes (D.) of South Carolina, followed up with the statement that he understood the War Department already had worked out plans for such a program.

As argument developed over this defense issue, other aspects of the preparedness program bid for attention on Capitol Hill.

1—Informed sources predicted a substantial additional request for funds for the army.

2—Passage of the navy's surprise $4,000,000,000 fleet expansion plan was unanimously recommended to the House by its naval committee.

MONEY FOR FORD

3—A Senate committee took steps to provide money to start the Ford Motor Company on the mass production of airplane engines on government order.

4—Legislation to empower the President to send Red Cross "mercy ships into the war zone was temporarily blocked by Senator Holt (D) of West Virginia, who accused the administration of stirring up hatred and said the ships

Paris Fleet, Planes Fleeing to Africa?

LONDON, June 19 (INS)—Reports that Hitler may be deprived of important elements of the French navy and air force even though France accepts his armistice terms cheered London today.

A report broadcast over the Valencia radio station said that large flights of French war planes, most of them bombers, had been seen passing over Valencia in the direction of the North African coast.

These same reports said that certain units of the French navy were proceeding toward the French African colonies.

The obvious inference was that these units were being sent to places out of Germany's reach, possibly to continue fighting in collaboration with Britain's empire forces even if the French homeland has to capitulate entirely.

In this connection, no announcement has been made regarding disposition of the "strong Allied fleet" which was based at Alexandria some time ago. For obvious reasons of military strategy, nothing is being said about this concentration, which had been officially described as a "battle fleet," but Britain was hopeful that the French navy would stand by for action, regardless of the peace action taken at Bordeaux.

Nazi Flag Flier Fined in Chile

ANTOFAGASTA, Chile, June 18 (AP)—For flying Nazi flags in port here in celebration of German victories in Europe the captain of the German freighter Rakotis was fined 100 gold pesos—about $26.

Boy With Dart in Skull Faces Knife

His skull pierced by a steel dart thrown by a school chum, who later tried desperately but futilely to remove it, a policeman's son faced a delicate operation at City Hospital today.

Victim of the unusual accident and reported in a critical condition was Alfred Dacey, 11, son of Patrolman William Dacey of Chestnut ave., Jamaica Plain.

The boy, en route to his fourth grade class at Bowditch school, had just rounded the corner at Lamartine and Green sts., as another boy, a class mate, threw the dart high into the air.

The Dacey boy stepped into the path of the falling dart, about eight inches long and described as the type found at amusement parks where they are thrown at balloons.

The three-inch steel point went through the boy's skull, the feathered end protruding. The boy who had thrown it, tried to pull the dart out, but instead broke it in two, leaving the steel imbedded.

Surgeons said the steel had not penetrated the brain, but that it would be necessary to cut away a section of the skull to remove it.

FD Defense Plan G.O.P. Problem

PHILADELPHIA, June 19 (AP)—Pres. Roosevelt's proposal for peacetime conscription presented a new problem today for the Republican resolutions committee, already endeavoring to write a platform plank expressing the party's viewpoint on foreign relations.

This and a speech in which John L. Lewis of the CIO, spoke praisingly, and perhaps significantly, of Herbert Hoover, provided the vanguard of next week's national convention with an abundance of discussion.

Glenn Frank, chairman of the committee which wrote a party program last winter, said Mr. Roosevelt's suggestion conformed to the trend of New Deal philosophy.

"The heart of the New Deal," he said, "is in an approach to a conscripted life."

STOCKS DRAG ON NEW FEARS

NEW YORK, June 19 (AP)—Stock prices slid off gradually today as apprehension over probable peace terms grew among traders.

Declines of fractions to around $1 a share were frequent among leaders but transactions were meagre.

Steels, motors and aircrafts turned soft after an uneven opening, due largely to uncertainty concerning Great Britain's ability to ship purchases if the French navy is commandeered by Germany.

Chief share sufferers included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, United Aircraft, Sperry, American Can, Eastman Anaconda, Western Union, Dupont and Standard Oil of N. J. Among the few gainers were Allied Chemical, Westinghouse and Caterpillar.

Senate Thrift Fight on Again

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)—Undaunted by two defeats, Senate advocates of heavy slashes in government spending renewed their efforts today to write an economy order into the $1,007,000,000 defense tax bill.

Sen. Byrd (D.) of Virginia proposed yesterday that the President be "authorized and directed" to cut federal expenditures 10 per cent—except for military items—but his colleagues voted 41 to 35 merely to authorize the curtailment.

The Senate also rejected, 47 to 33, a mandatory five per cent cut advanced by Sen. Tydings (D.) of Maryland, who shouted:

"Congress is talking a hell of a lot, but it isn't doing anything."

Tydings promptly suggested a three per cent reduction, and Sen. O'Mahoney (D.) of Wyoming recommended that Senate and House committees be directed to cut a half-billion dollars from 1941 appropriation bills already enacted.

These proposals, up for debate this afternoon, were opposed by Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky. He denied Tydings' charge that Congress was "lying down on the job," and asserted that mandatory cuts would fall chiefly on government employes, relief recipients and farmers who get agriculture benefits.

Adams Homesteads Given to Quincy

The John Adams and John Quincy Adams Homesteads, birthplace of two Presidents and one of the nation's shrines, today was the property of the city of Quincy.

The historic property, consisting of land and two houses on Franklin st. and Presidents ave., was presented to the city by two trustees Charles Francis Adams, former secretary of the navy, and a cousin, Henry Adams.

Mayor Thomas S. Burgin said he was making plans for municipal management of the shrine.

Canadian Liner Sunk by Mine

AUCKLAND, N. Z., June 19 (AP)—Prime Minister Peter Fraser told Parliament today that an enemy mine had sunk the 13,415-ton Canadian-Australian liner Niagara, which went down yesterday 20 miles off the New Zealand coast. This was the first official indication that German mines had been sown in Pacific waters.

As Fraser spoke, rescue ships and planes were aiding the 148 passengers and 203 crewmen of the vessel who took to their boats following the explosion which sunk the liner. All were declared safe and proceeding here.

Bride at Radcliffe Wins Senior Honors

Bride of less than a month, Mrs. Esther Winslow Schell Prosser of Cambridge was today awarded the Capt. Jonathan Fay diploma and scholarship won annually by the Radcliffe senior who has "given evidence of the greatest promise."

The award to Mrs. Prosser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin H. Schell, who graduated magna cum laude, featured Radcliffe's commencement at Sanders Theater, Harvard, during which 182 seniors received their degrees.

Pres. Ada Comstock awarded the Caroline I. Wilby prize for the best original work in any department to M .. Maxine Yaple Sweezy of Cambridge, who received her doctor of philosophy degree in February, for her thesis on "Nazi Economic Policies."

FRESHMEN HONORED

The Mary Putnam Hart prize for the best general examination in English among candidates for honors was divided between Ruth Richmond of Trenton, N. J., and Jean Gordon of Beechurst, L. I.

Helen M. Bell of Washington, D. C., won the Oliver-Dabney history and literature prize for the sophomore whose work in history and literature showed greatest promise during the year.

The Oliver-Dabney prize for the best collateral essay written in connection with the History I course went to Pauline Berman, freshman, of Boston.

Radcliffe's commencement address was delivered by Dr. William Allan Neilson, retired president of Smith College, and was broadcast, as were the exercises.

CLASS DAY AT HARVARD

Another feature was the alumni parade to historic Harvard Stadium, the silver anniversary class of 1915 heading the procession of costumed grads.

More than 50 alumni classes, dating back 70 years, took part in the stadium exercises, with Walter H. Trumbull of Weston, member of the 1915 class and director of Middlesex School, as lumni chief marshal.

Members of the 50-year class and their guests were seated with President James Bryant Conant of Harvard as his guests.

As first marshal, Thomas Healey of Worcester conducted exercises of the senior class after it assembled at Lowell House tower for the first procession of the day and marched to Kirkland House triangle for the literary exercises.

As class orator, Tudor Gardiner of Gardiner, Me., urged the nation to "make this hemisphere impregnable."

"America must face the fact," he said, "that we can never wield great power abroad, except at a sacrifice fatal to the America we know and love.

URGES U. S. DEFENSE

"Let us defend America by American ideals and put our country in position to smash any threat to its security with scientific and ruthless efficiency.

"Let us put away sentiment for Europe, since we are powerless to act there. Let us devote ourselves to America, to preservation of our security in this hemisphere, and to the service of peace and democracy."

The class ode was read at the exercises by Edward C. K. Read of Villanova, Pa., and the class poem by Garfield H. Horn of Long Beach, Cal., class poet.

At later activities in the Stadium, in connection with the reunioning alumni, the senior class ivy orator, Bayard S. Clark of Philadelphia, delivered the ivy oration.

La Guardia, 2 Envoys Honored at Yale

NEW HAVEN, Ct., June 19 (AP) —Two ambassadors of foreign nations and the mayor of America's largest city were among the 10 men who received honorary degrees today at Yale's 239th commencement.

Presented by Prof. William Lyon Phelps as a man who had "taken democracy away from politicians and restored it to the people," Mayor La Guardia of New York was awarded a doctor of laws degree, as were Ambassador Hu Shih of China and Lord Lothian, the envoy from Britain.

The other recipients of honorary degrees were:

Carl Sandburg, the poet and biographer, doctor of letters.

Paul Tillich, German philosopher and member the Union Theological Seminary faculty, doctor of divinity.

Gilmore D. Clarke, dean of the Cornell University College of Architecture, doctor of humane letters.

Edward A. Doisy, professor of biochemistry at St. Louis School of Medicine, doctor of science.

Henry S. Graves, former dean of the Yale School of Forestry, doctor of laws.

Leroy U. Gardner, director of the Saranac laboratories for the study of tuberculosis, master of science.

Arthur Howe, former president of Hampton Institute, master of arts.

The university conferred 1193 degrees in course, among them 652 bachelors' degrees to seniors in the undergraduate schools.

IDA AND EDITH ALDCROFT

To Marry U. S. Army Privates on June 29

PRETTY TWIN GIRLS TO WED ARMY MEN

Pretty, vivacious Edith Aldcroft, 18, of Cambridge, was introduced to First Class Private Raymond Miller of the United States army at a dance in the new town hall in Ayer a year ago.

After the dance Miller returned to his barracks at Fort Devens, where he was stationed, and told his friend, Corp. Sidney Gillespie, all about the slender, dark-eyed, brown-haired girl he had just met.

"She sounds like a whiz," Gillespie said. "Has she got a sister?"

He asked that question—a year ago—a little lightly; but Edith did have a sister, a twin, Ida, also 18, pretty, vivacious, slender, dark-eyed and brownhaired.

Today, Edith and Ida Aldcroft, of Locke st., are making preparations for their double wedding to Private Raymond Miller and Corporal Sidney Gillespie.

"We're to be married a week from Saturday—June 29—at 8 o'clock in the evening at St. James Church, in Porter sq., Cambridge," Edith said today, explaining their plans.

"The boys are on furlough till July 7. Then they have to go to Fort Benning in Georgia for maneuvers."

The sisters laughed gaily as they posed for pictures.

"You can see we're not exactly identical twins," Edith said, cocking her head to one side. "But—we look enough alike so the boys have to keep their eyes open."

Beal, Lupien Split Over 'Double Cross'

A split between State Commissioner of Public Works John W. Beal and Civil Service Commissioner Ulysses J. Lupien, climaxed by a Beal's charge that Lupien "double crossed" him, was revealed at the State House today.

Upshot of the row, also, is that the city of Beverly is without a district engineer and will remain without one, if Beal sticks to his promise.

Several weeks ago Joseph McCarthy, district state public works engineer at Beverly, was transferred to the Boston office of the public works department and Beal asked authority of the civil service commission to promote Charles Fritz to the vacant Beverly position.

PERMISSION FIRST GRANTED

Permission was granted, Beal said, but several days later Lupien asked that the letter in which he gave his permission be returned to him.

This was because Marion Nichols, long an advocate of strict Civil Service requirements, had demanded of Lupien that an examination for the Beverly job be held.

Fritz' appointment was blocked, and in the examination Charles Weller head the list and Fritz finished—14th.

Beal was supplied with the three top names on the list by the civil service commission, according to the usual routine, but he sent them back and asked a re-rating on Fritz and three other engineers: one named Sellew, who finished sixth; Putnam, who finished eighth, and Chase, 15th.

GOVERNOR'S APPOINTEES

Hot point of the situation came at the outing of the Massachusetts State Engineers' outing at Greenfield last Saturday when Beal, as guest speaker, shouted bitterly he had been double-crossed on the Fritz promotion.

60-FOOT FALL KILLS MOTHER, 52

While her son lay quietly asleep only a few feet away, Mrs. Celia Francis, 52, of Cheney st., Roxbury, plunged 60 feet from the roof of her four-story tenement house home to her death on a concrete sidewalk today.

Mrs. Francis' body was found by a passer-by and taken to Boston City Hospital by police.

She was pronounced dead on arrival, and officers returning to her home awakened her son, Ralph, who had slept through the tragedy.

The son told police his mother, who is a widow, was in the habit of taking a beach chair to the roof in the early morning to sun herself. The roof is surrounded only by a two-foot coping.

ALL NEW ENGLAND COMBED FOR SPIES

Hundreds of patriotic New Englanders joined today in a far flung spy hunt—vowing that Fifth Columnists shall gain no foothold here. On every hand came reports of suspicions concerning shipyard workers, prominent business men and employes working on government orders. Reports were filed with Federal authorities, G-men, police and with newspapers.

Some persons are accused of being Nazi spies and others with being spreaders of propaganda and saboteurs, deliberately scheming to break down America's defense program.

Very largely it comes about as the result of the revelation of Nazi Fifth Column activities that preceded and paved the way for the easy subjugation of Norway, Denmark and Holland and may have played a part in the defeat of France.

MANY GOOD TIPS

From a skeptical "It can't happen here" attitude thousands have swung over to the idea that "It can happen here." They have busied themselves accordingly.

Authorities have revealed that many of the tips have injured innocent persons.

One conspicuous example of this was when a turkey raiser in Norton, D. N. Runge by name, was accused of rumors of having munitions and guns on his farm. He stood the rumors as long as he could, then inserted this advertisement in the Taunton Daily Gazette:

"A reward of $500 will be paid to anyone who can prove that my son, or I, are in possession of any blueprints of arsenals, or fortifications of the United States, or if anyone can prove that I am keeping high explosives, or other ammunition on the farm.

"This reward is for as long as I live. I have been a citizen of this country for 45 years."

Runge said he had a son, Earl, with the American submarine fleet in the World War and that the boy was ill for years as the result of being gassed.

"I have a younger son who is already to go to war any time this country wants him," he said. "This country has given me opportunities no other country in the world could give me."

In spite of the possibility of error the Record and American welcomes news of Fifth Column activities. If our readers know of such activities they are urged to call the City Editor, Liberty 4000, and report them. They may rest assured the leads will be thoroughly investigated and no harm will be done to innocent persons.

Sleepless Nights Don't Help Your Health

Perhaps It's Lazy Kidneys

When excess acids and poisons accumulate in the blood because your kidneys aren't acting as they should be — ill health from kidneys is apt to follow.

Some symptoms of sluggish kidneys often are: getting up nights — backache — nervousness — dizzy spells — difficult passage that sometimes burns — and swollen ankles.

Any druggist will sell you a 35 cent box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules — a grand kidney diuretic and stimulant that may do you a lot of good.

So why not play safe — Get a box today but be sure and ask for and get GOLD MEDAL — pure — the original — the genuine. Don't be an easy mark and accept a cheap substitute — play safe — look for the Gold Medal on the box — the sign of purity — 35 cents.

Bomb Found Near Bund Magazine Plant

PHILADELPHIA, June 19 (AP)—A homemade bomb was discovered in the doorway of a German language newspaper plant earl ytoday and Policeman Joseph McFadden said he severed the fuse just before it reached the explosion point.

McFadden, answering a call to the building, said three employes told him they discovered the explosive. The workmen told him there had been a score of telephoned threats against the plant in the past week. The plant prints the official publication of the German-American Bund.

British Fliers Bomb Italian Submarine

CAIRO, June 19 (AP)—An "entirely successful" dive-bombing attack on an Italian submarine in the Mediterranean was reported today by the British Royal Air Force.

An R. A. F. communique said two British fighters sighted the submarine while on patrol yesterday and signalled to their base.

A Blenheim bomber was sent out and dived on the submarine while the fighting planes machine-gunned the conning tower. Subsequent reports from naval craft said the attack was "entirely successful."

Britain Calls Off All Horse Racing

LONDON, June 19 (AP)—Cessation of horse racing in England "until further notice" was announced today.

Pills Keep Nazi Army on the Go

NEW YORK, June 19 (INS)—German soldiers have been able to fight six days and nights without sleep because they were fed "anti-fatigue" pills, Maj. Paul P. Logan of the U. S. Army Industrial College declared in an address before the National Ass'n of Retail Grocers in convention here.

Maj. Logan, an instructor in the Industrial College, said the United States is also working on development of mineral tablets of a similar nature. Indicating such pills may have constituted one of Hitler's "secret weapons" responsible for the unprecedented success of the German blitzkriegs, he said:

"I received a report recently which came through a military attache in Berlin, that during the Norwegian campaign the German soldiers fought six days and nights without sleep but they were administered anti-fatigue pills every day by the officers and they showed no ill effects from it."

Huge Economic Task Now Facing Nazis

BERLIN, June 19 (AP)—A great part of Europe—eight formerly independent nations and now probably France—must find a place for itself in Germany's totalitarian economic and industrial scheme as a result of German expansion and war victories.

For the nations already absorbed, world trade has disappeared, and business is upside down as it tries to adjust itself to the German system of barter and planned economy.

The countries which Germany has taken over, in turn, are Austria, Czechoslovakia (now Bohemia-Moravia), Poland, Denmark, Norway, Luxembourg, the Netherlands and Belgium.

Austria's economy apparently has been absorbed completely in the Reich. Luxembourg, occupied in a day, has valuable agricultural products as well a san iron industry to add to German resources. The Luxembourg iron industry was dominated by German capital before the World War.

In many of the lands through which the blitzkrieg has passed at least the outward appearance of normalcy is being restored in a surprisingly short time.

FIELDS BEING FILLED

In Bohemia-Mornavia, which got a pre-war taste of German economic management, fields are being tilled, factories are operating and people are working.

An effort is being made to make the same conditions prevail in Poland, where there is a demand for all the food that can be produced, although that country was severely hit by last autumn's war.

In Denmark, Norway, and to a lesser extent in Holland and Belgium, too, the Reich is straining every nerve to keep the people working, the fields producing, the factories working.

But terrific problems of readjustment remain to be worked out.

Germany herself avoided any sudden increase in unemployment at the start of the war. War industry and the army absorbed workers whose jobs disappeared as the production of luxuries and unessential goods was curtailed.

Now war industry is so busy that thousands of workers have been imported from Bohemia-Moravia and Poland.

NATURAL MARKET

The Reich's great need for every conceivable product gives a natural market for countries successively occupied by the Germany army.

The easiest adjustment probably is being made by Denmark, where no physical damage to industries or the conutryside occurred to interfere with the normal processes of industry.

Denmark's biggest jolt was the sudden and total loss of the British market for bacon and dairy products.

Germany, to an increasing extent, is taking these supplies, but the problem of payment has not been completely worked out.

Belgium and northern France still are under the close control of the German military administration, which, it was explained, has set out to achieve two aims:

1—Establish and preserve order.
2—Care for refugees.

BRITISH BUILD BLOCKHOUSES

LONDON, June 19 (AP)—England has adopted early American anti-Indian tactics with the erection of blockhouses over the countryside to combat an expected German invasion, it was disclosed today.

War Minister Anthony Eden, in a written answer to a question in the House of Commons, said the following measures had "been noted":

Erection of blockhouses or elevated armored machine-gun posts in various parts of the country, especially flat areas.

Provision of rockets to spread the alarm of enemy parachute descents "with a view to possible interruption of telephonic and telegraphic communications."

Protection of busses and trucks with bullet-proof armor, arming them with guns and holding them at strategic points to guard against parachute landings, troop-carrying planes and speedboats.

Supplying arms to railway signal posts, especially in isolated areas, and adequates teps for the protection of locomotives heds.

MAN'S BODY IN HARBOR

The body of an unidentified man, about 45 years old, was found floating today in Fort Point channel. Police said the body apparently had been in the water about two weeks.

800 Parisians Commit Suicide

LONDON, June 19 (INS)—There have been 800 known cases of suicide in Paris as a result of German occupation of the French capital, the London Daily Sketch claimed today. The paper also stated that 7000 persons have been arrested.

Why the Cod is CODDLED

Why do 40-Fathom fishermen bed the just-cleaned Cod below decks in smooth layers of pulverized ice?

Because ordinary chopped ice would bruise the tender flesh. This special ice, soft as snow, costs a little more, but it carefully protects the quality of the Cod, Haddock, Perch and other fish destined to become 40-Fathom Fillets.

Painstaking care at every step from trawler to table has made 40-Fathom a "best-seller" coast to coast. And helped to make Boston better known than ever before as the source of the nation's finest seafoods.

U. S. MAPS TRADE IN AMERICAS

WASHINGTON, June 19 (INS)—Adoption of President Roosevelt's proposed Pan-American trade cartel probably would cost the United States Treasury between $250,000,000 and $500,000,000 a year, Administration officials frankly admitted today.

When the ambitious trade scheme is offered to Congress and to the 20 other American republics, however, the huge expenditure will be justified as vitally necessary if economic penetration of the Western Hemisphere by Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy is to be effectively stopped. A meeting at Havana, Cuba, at which Pan-America would be asked to pass on the proposal, is being considered.

The plan, which envisages a gigantic inter-American trading corporation, equipped to buy up and control all exportable surpluses in North and South America, was being whipped into final form today by Secretary of State Hull, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and Secretary of Commerce Hopkins.

As it began to take definite form, observers accepted the proposal as a bold move by President Roosevelt to subsidize the trade of all the Americas and chase Nazi-Fascist influence back to Europe.

It will be at least another 24 hours before the cabinet committee completes its report and recommendations for submission to the President.

Rival Forts Continue War

BERN, Switzerland, June 19 (AP)—Long after the Maginot line's reserves had slipped away and all Alsace and Lorraine had been cut off by German legions, French and German forts north of Basel still were bombarding each other today.

Guns on the French side fired at regular intervals as though served by only small gun crews. Nevertheless the tri-color still flew over them, and regular bugle calls were sounded for reveille and meals.

of the Reich is ready to make known to the French government its conditions for the cessation of hostilities.

"As soon as the names of the French plenipotentiaries are announced the government of the Reich will make known the date and place where these plenipotentiaries will be received.

"The cabinet named these plenipotentiaries."

Meanwhile France acted to protect her cities and population from the southward advance of the German armies.

The French high command announced that, despite continued attacks in all sectors, the Germans had made no important advances during the night.

The morning communique said:

"The enemy continued pressure along the whole front. They have achieved no important advance since yesterday evening."

sumption of normal industrial activity in France.

6—A guarantee that France's entire economic, industrial, financial organization be included in the totalitarian blockade against England for duration of the war.

An Associated Press dispatch from Rome said a government source repudiated Il Popolo's version.—Editor's Note.

CALLS TERMS GENEROUS

Terms of the armistice, which will be followed by peace on the continent, will be presented to France within a few hours, Virginio Gayda, press spokesman for Mussolini, wrote in the Giornale D'Italia.

It was Gayda who also disclosed that the "final agreement" for intensified military operations was drafted in Munich.

"The peace conditions, although necessarily hard, will be more generous and just than those of Versailles," Gayda said.

"The new European order will restore national units and distributive justice in overseas territories and political positions.

"These just conditions, securely guaranteeing a long peace for Europe and the world, assure the necessary proportionality between populations. Their true democratic attitudes, their capacity for work and their free economic means will be put at the disposal of these populations."

U. S. AID SCORED

Referring to Swiss and American reports of the "sentimental tendency of the Italian people toward France," Gayda said:

"France brought misfortune upon herself. There is, therefore, no reason to pity her."

Gayda bitterly attacked Great Britain's announced decision to continue the struggle.

"Therefore definitive construction of a new Europe is forced to require new turmoil and new bloodshed," he wrote.

"As England placed herself behind the French army, the United States now places herself behind the British fleet.

"The Italians and Germans have already calculated on continuance of a war imposed solely by the Anglo-Saxon countries and they are fully prepared to carry it out to final victory."

The newspaper Lavoro Fascista said that the terms would be officially announced as soon as word is received from French Premier Marshal Henri Philippe Petain.

Dictators Get U. S. Warning

official notification to Germany and Italy that the United States is prepared to resist any claims they may make to territory in the Western Hemisphere as a result of military conquest.

The Senate-House resolution on which the notice was based provides the U. S. will oppose the transfer of ownership from one non-American to another non-American nation of any territories in the Western Hemisphere area.

A second section of the resolution provides also that if such transfer or efforts to transfer appears imminent, the United States shall consult with other Western Hemisphere nations.

French possessions in the Western Hemisphere—the territories most immediately concerned in view of the French request for an armistice—are French Guiana, Martinique and Guadaloupe in the West Indies and St. Pierre and Miquelon, off Newfoundland.

DOCTRINE QUOTED

This is the part of the Monroe message which was said to have been cited in the American warning:

"We owe it to candor and to amicable relations existing between the United tates and those (European) powers to declare we should consider any attempt on their part to extend their systems to any portion of this hemisphere as a danger to our peace and safety.

"With existing colonies or dependencies of any European powers we have not interfered and shall not interfere. But with governments who have declared their independence and have maintained it . . . we could not view any interposition for the purpose of oppressing them or controlling in any other manner their destinies by any European power in any other light than as manifestations of an unfriendly disposition toward the United States."

Arms Training Plan Studied

might provide an "incident" which would send the country to war.

5—The House passed the Senate-approved resolution which puts the United States on record as opposed to the transfer of foreign possessions in the Western Hemisphere to any non-American power.

Pres. Roosevelt, in outlining the compulsory training program he has under consideration, emphasized that it was still in the study stage.

It contemplated, he explained, eventual government service for all of the nation's young men—and perhaps its young women—in promoting the national defense.

4 CLASSIFICATIONS

He divided the types of service into four classifications. There would be those in the fighting forces, he said; those engaged in the production of munitions and defense materials, and those whose task it would be to conserve national resources.

Mr. Roosevelt mentioned a year as the length of training that might be required, and said that such a term of disciplined training would be good for the nation's young people, besides helping defense.

Most Democrats in Congress gave either flat or conditional endorsement and most Republicans criticized the plan, but opinion did not always follow party lines.

Rep. Miller (R.) of Connecticut, a World War aviator, said, "The plan seems like complete totalitarianism. We fought the World War to destroy militarism. This would go further than Kaiser Wilhelm ever dreamed of."

"TIME TO WAKE UP"

Sen. Lodge (R.) of Massachusetts, on the other hand, said he was for going even further and making military training compulsory. Rep. Casey (D.) of Massachusetts, expressing approval of the President's idea, said that "it is about time we woke up."

Rep. Wadsworth (R.) of New York called the plan" contrary to our philosophy and way of life," while Rep. Tinkham (R.) of Massachusetts said, "I don't see how conditions now necessitate that step—of course, they may tomorrow since things move so fast."

Congressional predictions that defense expenditures—now more than $5,000,000,000 — would be swelled further by an additional army appropriation request did not specify the purpose or the exact figures to be asked.

The speculation followed Admiral Harold R. Stark's advocacy yesterday of a new $4,000,000,000 fleet expansion as esential to the nation's defense.

His program, quickly approved by the House naval committee, contemplates the addition of some 200 vessels to the fleet, but appropriations would not be sought until subsequent sessions of Congress. If the expansion is voted, Stark said he would ask for $175,000,000 now to being work.

ASKS CONSENT

Senator Pittman (D.), of Nevada, asked unanimous consent to sidetrack pending business in order to vote on a resolution authorizing the President to send Red Cross ships into the war zone—something now forbidden by the neutrality act except by consent of the belligerents.

"This little resolution," Holt shouted, "might be the spark that would send thousands of American boys to their deaths."

There was always the danger, he declared, that a Red Cross ship in the war zone might be torpedoed.

"If the proper kind of propaganda should lay the sinking at the door of Germany," he said, "immediately the flames of hatred would break out which have been generated by men high in this administration and generated on the floor of the Senate by war mongering speeches."

Holt's refusal to give his consent to consideration sent the proposal back to a committee.

Men Over 50 Just Sissies

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

The army has camps for us fellows over 50. We don't know whether that's to train us or get us o t of the way.

We're pretty tough fellows over the telephone, adding up a dinner check or looking for parking space.

But at 50 your active days are over. We know that men over 50 start most arguments. But we also notice they are toughest when they're walking away.

We would like to gallop over hill and dale with Wild Bill Donovan and the other agile oldtimers. Providing the dales are all cool and shady and the hills are all down.

BRITISH DOWN 7 RAIDERS

Last night was described as one in a hundred with exceptional visibility and under less favorable circumstances fighter planes might not be able to account so well for themselves.

Five waves of bombers roared over Yorkshire, dropping loads of explosives. Alarms also were sounded in Lincolnshire, Northamptonshire, Norfolk, Suffolk and Kent.

Four of the casualties were in a Thames estuary town, where scores of homes were damaged.

MISSES HOTEL

One bomber, which crashed on the southeast coast after being crippled by British Spitfire fighters, narrowly missed a big hotel on the sea cliffs.

One member of the crew attempto parachute to safet but was killed when he became entangled in the plane's tail, which fell 100 yards from the engine and wings.

The three other crew members, uninjured, were seized and taken to police headquarters. The fourman crew of another German raide, shot down at sea was rescued by fishermen. Two of the Nazis were wounded.

Thousands of Britons, many of whom were experiencing their first taste of real war, were sent scurrying to air raid shelters when the first alarms were sounded near midnight and it was almost dawn when some of them came out into the open again.

AERIAL BATTLES

Spectacular aerial battles, fought in a sky lighted by bursting shells and the beams of searchlights, marked the raid.

At one point in Cambridgeshire spectators who remained above ground cheered as a British fighter plane pumped machine-gun bullets into a bomber and sent the raider crashing in flames.

One eye-witness, describing the engagement, said:

"A searchlight caught the German. I could see a British fighter pumping incendiary bullets into it. Then the enemy plane fell out of the searchlight beam, but the lights picked it up again lower down.

"Suddenly it hit the ground and there was a burst of flame which lit up the sky."

At an inland Suffolk town a German plane appeared to have been hit by a burst of machinegun fire from the ground. Other raiders were brought down in Suffolk and one fell in the sea off the east coast of Yorkshire.

GIRD FOR INVASION

Military circles said today that the British expeditionary force had been withdrawn from France and would now devote itself naturally to "one task"—home defense.

The B. E. F. brought back "large quantities of guns and stores, a commentator said.

"Never before," he continued, "have so many troops been in England, and never before have we had so many who have had fighting experience under modern conditions."

Prime Minister Churchill yesterday put at 1,250,000 the number of soldiers under arms in Britain.

The troops from France were said to be "certain in the knowledge that they are better men than the Germans when they meet them under equal terms," military circles said.

Ford Gets Plane Order From U. S.

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)—A Senate appropriations sub-committee tentatively approved a $43,500,000 addition to an emergency defense appropriation bill to finance a contract with the Ford Motor Company for the construction of 3000 airplane engines.

Sen. Byrnes (D.) of South Carolina, said he had been informed by Assistant Secretary of War Johnson, that a contract had been negotiated with Henry Ford for production of the motors within eight months.

Byrnes said he understood they would be Rolls-Royce motors, adding it was understood that Ford preferred to build that engine, a British motor recently released for American manufacture, rather than experiment with a new engine.

DETROIT, June 19 (AP)—Although the Ford Motor Co. has not yet received an order from the government to swing into airplane production, all the preliminary steps short of actual plane output have been taken or are contemplated, it was learned authoritatively today.

It was explained at the Ford offices that parts for the Rolls-Royce Merlin motor with which Ford engineers have been experimenting for more than six months already are being made.

This engine, stepped up to approximately 1200 horsepower, is the one Henry Ford has had in mind in contemplating the production of as many as 1000 airplanes a day within six months after a "go ahead" order is received from the government.

Already, said one Ford source today, the problems surrounding the production of the Rolls-Royce Merlin "have been simplified by at least 50 per cent."

It was reported reliably that contracts for additional engines to power United States war planes had been completed or nearly completed with the Pratt-Whitney, Allison and Curtiss-Wright companies. Funds for these contracts are already in the pending emergency appropriation.

U. S. Cuts N. England Quota on Recruits

Inability of the New England states to furnish sufficient recruits for the U. S. army has resulted in a reduction of one-third in its recruiting quota by the War Department, it was announced today by Maj.-Gen. James A. Woodruff, commanding the First Army Corps.

The number of recruits eliminated from New England's quota in the current army drive is 356. The original number sought before June 30 was 1113.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 10¢ and 25¢. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

ASSOCIATES URGE BULLITT RETURN FROM FRANCE TO AID U. S.

PARIS, June 18 (By airplane to Aachen and telephone to Berlin) (AP)—Associates of United States Ambassador William C. Bullitt were reported today to have advised him to return to the United States, urging that his services at home would be more valuable to his country than in German-occupied Paris.

The ambassador, it was said, is considering the advice but has come to no decision.

One of his closest advisers said frankly he wishes to go away himself. Another seconded the idea and they both joined in expressing hope that the ambassador himself might consider his services more valuable at home than in France and would join the State Department at the earliest opportunity.

Since the ambassador's departure would depend upon the wishes of the German government under protocol procedure his wishes would first have to be made known to Nazi officials.

Rich, Red, Blood!

It's Often "Blood Poverty" That Keeps Thousands Sickly, Pasty-Faced, Weak and "All In"

MAKE THIS 9 DAY BLOOD BUILDING TEST!

Simple Test Doctors Use PROVES in 9 Days Thin Pale Watery Blood Can Be Changed To RICH, RED FIGHTING BLOOD!

NO WONDER you wake up in the morning feeling tired, that you lack energy, are sundown, always sick, complexion poor, digestion bad—if your blood is pale, wish-washy, unable to provide strength and nourishment to your tissues. Everyone knows good rich blood is important, but few people know why.

Doctors will tell you that your blood is the most important organ of your entire body . . . that every minute, thousands upon thousands of red blood cells are circulating through your veins, performing the most vitally important job of keeping you alive. In addition to providing body-building elements to every tissue cell, your blood performs an important operation, acting as a carrier for oxygen from your lungs.

Every day, millions and millions of body tissue cells are destroyed, repaired and rebuilt, and it is the oxygen in your blood that makes this possible. When body cells are destroyed, it is the blood that carries away the refuse, the toxic wastes. No wonder it is important to have rich red healthy blood.

What Makes Rich Red Blood?

Many elements combine to give you nourishing red blood. Protein fats, carbohydrates, mineral salts, such as iron and copper, calcium, phosphorus, vitamins, and most important, mysterious blood-making elements which are found most generously in raw liver. Ordinary food provides many of these elements, but the most important ones are frequently insufficiently provided in your daily diet.

After years of research, however, a way has been found to combine these important blood-making elements in small pleasant-tasting tablets known as Boncquet Tablets, which contain Red Blood Cell Maturing Factors (raw liver principle); Vegetable (Organic) iron and other minerals derived from vegetables especially fertilized and grown to insure a high natural vitamin and mineral content; Vitamin B complex which contains all the vitamins fortified with pure crystalline vitamins B and G; easily assimilable calcium and phosphorus. These amazingly effective blood-builders, devised and manufactured with scientific accuracy, have produced results which to doctors and clinics have proven startling.

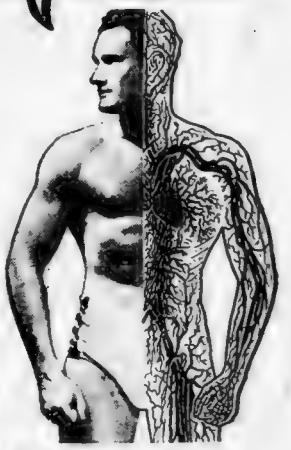
Contains Active Principle of Raw Liver

For years, scientists and medical authorities have been talking about the effectiveness of raw liver for blood deficiencies. Extraordinary results have been achieved in improving the blood when raw liver in the proper amounts has been included in the diet. Yet to many persons, raw liver is repugnant to delicate stomachs and cannot be relished. Boncquet Tablets provide, among other things, EFFECTIVE THERAPEUTIC AMOUNTS OF THE ACTIVE (MOST IMPORTANT) PRINCIPLE OF RAW LIVER—and do so in a tablet that is palatable, pleasant and easy to take.

Women! Help Overcome Functional Weakness

If you are one of the thousands of women who suffer cramps, periodic pains, functional weaknesses, let Boncquet Tablets As an aid in overcoming nutritional deficiencies — as a means of helping to build you up and so increase your resistance to much of the dreaded functional pain, Boncquet Tablets have proven invaluable. Equally important, they help you to avoid that hagard and worried look that often accompanies such monthly discomfort.

Boncquet Tablets are sold only at the Nature Food Centres stores, 209 Tremont St., Boston and 192 Mass. Ave., Boston.



Make This 9 Day Test Without Risking a Penny

Try BONCQUET TABLETS for 9 days. If you wish, have your physician take your blood count before and after this test. If your blood does not show a marked improvement, both in number of blood cells, in hemoglobin percentage and improved color index . . . if you do not feel stronger, more vitally alive, and if you do not look better and show a general all-around improvement in your health, the trial is absolutely free. BONCQUET TABLETS are pleasant to take, are not upsetting to the stomach, are not habit-forming and produce no ill effects of any kind. They cost but a few cents a day to use and are backed with an unconditional guarantee of absolute satisfaction or your money refunded.

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

A BIG WIDE MOON provided a perfect setting for the Beck Hall Spread for Harvard seniors, their girls and families, last evening . . . This party, as traditional a part of Commencement as the confetti battle at the Stadium, is very exclusive in that the "spreaders" (committee to you and me) are seniors who belong to the most social clubs at the college . . .

The spread is more than just a glorified picnic . . . it's a full course dinner served neath the light of the moon and Japanese lanterns on the lawn of Lowell House . . . and continues into the wee small hours with dancing in the commons rooms of the house . . .

Like most college farewell parties, the spread is steeped in sentiment and the girls consider it such an honor to be invited that they wear their prettiest summer gowns to help make it a colorful and memorable occasion . . .

Mrs. Chandler Hovey, Jr., who attended last year's spread as the bride-to-be of a senior (her engagement to Chandler had just been announced) was present again last evening . . . She wore a beautiful billowy gown of white chiffon with full length panels of apple green in the skirt, and her wrap was a shirred velvet cape of Harvard crimson . . .

Wraps an Important Item

WRAPS ARE AN IMPORTANT PART of Milady's costume for this party as it usually gets chilly before the spread is over and dancing lures the crowd inside . . . Nancy Nye added an effective white maribou bolero to her full skirted white gown and tucked a gardenia in her blonde hair . . .

Mrs. Robert Homans attended with her daughters, Mrs. Carl Gilbert and Mrs. Henry Mason, Jr., and their hubbies . . . Mrs. Mason's pale violet chiffon gown was topped by a bolero of a deeper shade of taffeta and Mrs. Gilbert wore a Kelly green taffeta coat over a black and white stripped taffeta gown . . .

Mrs. John Hallowell chose a pale gray dress and flared black jacket for the party and Mrs. William Brace Pratt, who attended with her son, Peter, wore a full skirted gown of pale green chiffon with a white fur jacket and corsage of enormous orchids . . . Muff West was as piquant as ever in begonia pink chiffon with a fluffy white fox jacket and Lucy Cochrane wore one of her favorite off-the-shoulder gowns, made with a tight fitting basque of strawberry pink faille and a billowy skirt of pale gray chiffon . . .

Virginia Hoar, a deb of last winter, came in from Concord for the party—her flowered chintz gown made over a hoop skirt and topped by a pink flannel coat . . . Still others at the party were Nancy and Cynthia Burrage, Helen Merriman with her fiance, Mason Fernald, who is graduating this week; Alice Jaques and Edward Roberts; Isabel Cunningham with her fiance, J. Lewis Bremer, 2d; Olivia Thorndike with Dan Cheever, to whom she will be married in August; Mr. and Mrs. William P. Homans; Nancy Homans and Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Vogel . . .

Notes From a Society Editor's Cuff

SEEN ABOUT TOWN . . . Polly Blodget, the diminutive figure skating star, and Jane Ohler of Jamaica Plain, shopping for bridesmaids' dresses for the latter's wedding in August at which Polly is to be a member of the bridal party . . . Polly was also selecting a spectator sports frock to wear to the Harvard-Yale crew races Friday . . .

. . . Nancy Scott in a striking gray linen two piece frock, with narrow red cotton fringe and red buttons for trimming, enjoying the fun at Marjorie Older's debut party at the Ritz yesterday . . . Marjorie and her mother received against a background of greens and summer flowers and the deb wore a pale green polka dot dress with a big white hat and orchid corsage . . . Corsages of pink and rose sweet peas were at each place on the luncheon tables . . . among the other attractive guests were Alice Hunsaker in a black silk suit with an embroidered organdie blouse, Dagmar Pierce in a colorful green polka dot suit with a crimson straw picture hat which set off her beautiful blonde hair, Anne Beebe in navy and white with a big white cartwheel hat, Julia Deane with her blonde hair confined in a yellow mesh snood, Betty Cotton, Mary O'Day, Anne Clark, Emily Garritt, Cynthia Vose and many others . . .

Cape Season Is Underway

Rita Faunce, who has recently returned from spending the winter in war torn Europe, spent the past week-end on the Cape and was in a jolly foursome at the Barclay in West Falmouth on the holiday.

Wearing a spectator sports frock of pink printed silk, with a bag of the same material framed in wood, she was escorted by John Pierce, and accompanied by Margaret Adrian of St. Louis and Hugh McWilliams.

Another gay party at a nearby table included Peter David and Frances Anderson of Hyannisport, whose guests included Diana Hill, Janet Brown, Henry Gardner, Bessie Cowes, Shirley Hopkins, Robert Isham and James Kittredge.

SWAN, CITY AIDE, DIES SUDDENLY

Arthur Francis Swan, assistant city treasurer and former Dorchester high school athlete, died suddenly today at his home in Bourne rd., Forest Hills, following a heart attack.

Word of the sudden death came as a shock at City Hall where Swan, in the city's service since Nov. 24, 1921, had been one of the most popular members of the official family.

The assistant treasurer worked through yesterday and left for home complaining of what he believed to be an attack of indigestion. Early today he suffered the heart attack and was dead a few hours afterward.

He is survived by his widow, the former Genevieve Steel of Belmont, whom he married in 1934; two daughters, Genevieve, 4, and Carol, 2, and by three sisters and three brothers.

He was born in Dorchester on Oct. 11, 1899, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Swan, and during the war served in the Students' Army Training Corps, receiving a commission. He held membership in West Roxbury Post, American Legion.

Scientific Feeding

By T. W. LEGGETT

The scientific way of feeding plants is gaining in preference over the pet methods of individuals which call for a handful of this and a handful of that and a pinch of something else if conditions seem to warrant.

Just as cookery experts have abandoned the old guesswork method in favor of exact recipes which give known results, so gardeners are turning to scientific plant feeding with complete, balanced plant food. Today, anyone can be sure that they are supplying their garden friends with all of the plant food elements they need for greater beauty.

Here is the new way of feeding plants which gives such sure results:

1—Don't overfeed plants. Four pounds of complete plant food for 100 square feet of lawn or garden area is the right amount to use in spring. More is wasteful and sometimes harmful.

2—In feeding established lawns, be sure the grass is dry—not damp from dew or rain. As soon as the grass is dry in the morning is the best time to apply plant food to the established lawn.

3—Always mix the plant food thoroughly with the top few inches of soil before seeding a lawn or garden. It is advisable, but not necessary, to wait a day before planting.

4—Keep the plant food off stalks and stems of established plants. If some gets on plants, just wash with water.

5—Read the directions which manufacturers furnish. The finer results that you get from your garden from proper use of plant food warrants the little time necessary for careful reading.

Pinch-Hitting for Louella O. Parsons, Who Is on Vacation

HOLLYWOOD, June 19—William Seiter and Paramount have just gotten together on a deal whereby Bill will produce and direct the screen version of "Kiss the Boys Goodbye," Clare Booth's successful satire on the search for Scarlett O'Hara.

Bill will take on the para chore after he completes the "Hired Wife" for Universal . . . In "Little Nelly Kelly" Judy Garlane will appear as both herself and her mother. And whoever gets the starring male role will appear as Judy's young husband and as her father. Get it?

Stars in Police Drama

'I TAKE THE OATH' STARS GORDON JONES AS AVENGER

The education of a rookie cop is set forth in the new Sigmund Neufeld police melodrama, "I Take This Oath," opening tomorrow on Trans-Lux screen.

Steve Hannigan (no relation to the celebrated press agent of the same name) gives up a prospective career as a lawyer to become "one of the Finest" in order to bring to justice the underworld leader responsible for the murder of his father, a veteran on the force.

Gordon Jones plays Hannigan. Joyce Compton, red-haired Kentuckian, is cast as his sweetheart, Betty Casey, who persuades him not to take the law into his own hands but to don a blue uniform and have the law behind him in his vengeful quest.

Others in the cast are Craig Reynolds, J. Farrell MacDonald, Robert Homans, Guy Usher, Mary Gordon and Sam Flint.

Cecil B. DeMille's spectacular production co-starring Fredric March and Francesca Gaal, "The Buccaneer," is the co-feature.

Russian Actress 'Four Sons' Star

Eugenie Leontovich, famous stage star, makes her debut as a screen actress in "Four Sons," new 20th Century-Fox film drama opening Friday on the Metropolitan screen.

Miss Leontovich plays the role of a mother whose four sons, heretofore in happy agreement, are turned against each other. She tried out for the part at her director husband's (Gregory Ratoff) insistence and was selected after nearly a score of stage and screen actresses had been tested.

The Russian-born Continental star for many years refused to accept a movie contract but Ratoff finally persuaded her that the money they spent on long distance telephone calls to each other might buy them a handsome menage if she stayed put long enough in Hollywood.

Probably by this time Miss Leontovich has decided to make her West Coast stay permanent for the New York critics have been raving about her first screen portrayal.

Archie Mayo directed the film which is from an original screen play by John Howard Lawson, suggested by a story by I. A. R. Wylie. Milton Sperling contributed additional dialogue.

Also on the new bill will be "Murder in the Air," a Warners' picture with Ronald Reagan, James Stephenson and Eddie Foy, Jr. Lewis Seiler directed.

MARY BETH HUGHES and Don Ameche who are featured players in "Four Sons," which opens Friday on the Met screen.

Vincent Price Plays In Lakewood Theater

Vincent Price, Yale's gift to stage and screen and spouse of Roxbury's Edith Barrett, will exchange Hollywood for Lakewood, Skowhegan, Me., this summer to appear with the Lakewood Players. The star of "The House of Seven Gables," "The Invisible Man Returns" and other pictures will appear for the week, beginning Monday, in his own comedy, "Poet's Corner," described as a comedy of modern family life centering around a young poet.

Owen Davis, Jr., will play the poet and Price will be Tom, his friend and business adviser.

ROLE FOR RICHARD CARLSON

HOLLYWOOD, June 19—Richard Carlson has just been signed by George Abbott for the movie version of the Abbott stage hit "Too Many Girls" which goes before the cameras at RKO Friday.

E. H. Griffith, pleased with the job Lynne Overman did in "Safari" has handed him a role in "Virginia." Overman's now in Providence, R. I., for the world premiere of "Safari."

Penny Singleton's heart interest, Bob Sparks, who produces the "Blondie" series will make a musical with Penny, Arthur Lake and Rita Hayworth.

Otto Preminger Flies East to Play Old Role

Otto Preminger is cutting short his California trip to fly back East and play his original role of the consul in Clare Boothe's Broadway success, "Margin for Error," with the North Shore Players in Marblehead the week of July 8.

This will be the first and only summer appearance made by Mr. Preminger.

'Leopard Men' Congo Thriller

Armchair adventurers may enjoy blood-chilling thrills without risks at the RKO Boston Theater, beginning tomorrow, when "The Leopard Men of Africa" is to have its world premiere.

The film records Dr. Paul L. Hoefler's latest expedition into the wilds of the Congo and features the terrifying "leopard men" who are half-brute, half human and who leap from trees to kill!

Other secrets of deepest Africa Dr. Hoefler tells about in "The Leopard Men of Africa" are the weird rituals participated in by the tribal virgins, the 10 billion "bomber" insects that are deadlier than the celebrated dancing Stukas, antelopes that dance and earthquake plagues that "never" were in Bestia. There are enough of the seldom photographed secrets out of a lady's past to stock a dozen films.

Dr. Hoefler has been called Africa's Roswell P. Flint because he has "about" everything and can't help living at least.

The Boston's second feature, "Half a Sinner," stars Heather Angel and John King.

"Half a Sinner" presents the attractive Miss Angel as a school teacher who accidentally finds a

NEW ENGLAND INSISTS WAY BE OPENED FOR ORPHANS

New England wants to care for orphaned children from the war-torn and invasion-menaced nations abroad.

Moreover, New England insists that immigration restrictions be lifted and, if necessary, new legislation adopted to allow the little ones to come here as soon as possible.

Hundreds of letters pouring into the office of the editor of the American prove this.

Every letter goes to the Special War Orphans' Bureau, opened in Washington by this newspaper in co-operation with the Record and Sunday Advertiser.

As soon as permission for the bringing of the children to America is granted, each request will be turned over to the proper agencies in the hope that all responsible persons who have applied for babies will get them.

Typical letters received today say:

MELROSE—"We would love to have a little girl between three and five years of age from one of the European countries.

"We shall give her a home permanently, or for the duration of the war. If she has parents we know they can never be happy until she is in their arms again. If she has lost her parents, we shall want to keep her always.

"We hope everything possible will be done soon so that American citizens will have the opportunity to protect the helpless children of France, England and the other nations."

METHUEN—"We would be happy and proud to have a little girl, preferably of Jewish parentage. We have two sons and would dearly love to add a daughter to our family.

"We are not rich, but we can give a child a good, clean home and an abundance of love."

DOVER, N. H.—"My husband and I would be the happiest couple in the world if we could adopt an orphaned girl around three years of age.

"If we can't have a girl, we'd gladly take a little boy.

"We will do all we can to make our home safe and pleasant for the little one."

FALL RIVER—"I have a little boy of my own. He is seven. I can imagine how hard it must be over there in those belligerent countries for women who have had children.

"I can never have another child, so I would love to have a little blond, blue-eyed girl to love forever as my very own."

NORTHFIELD, Vt.—"There is a very welcome spot in my home for an orphaned girl from England, France or Belgium. My husband and I will gladly adopt the child."

ROXBURY—"I don't see how our government or any charitable-minded government could refuse to allow these deserving children to come to a safe land. My heart goes out to the little ones in France, not only for what they are experiencing but also for the tragic things that are bound to happen to them.

"My husband and I will take two children, preferably brothers, for the duration of the war. If permission can be obtained, we shall adopt them."

WEST CONCORD—"We would like very much to adopt a little English or Dutch girl, one about three or four years of age.

"We have always wanted a curly-headed baby daughter. If the war orphans can be brought here and one placed in our home we shall be eternally grateful."

DORCHESTER—"I am a retired school teacher, too old to continue in the public service but sufficiently young to help others less fortunate.

"I shall be glad to take two little girls for the duration of the war. It would be better, I think, if they were about 10 years of age.

"Two of my friends, also retired, feel the same as I do and plan to make similar applications."

THE MARRIAGE of brown-eyed Mona, of the famous Oklahoma Keys quadruplets, to an oil company accountant was an interesting and unusual event.

KEYS SISTERS
Mary, Roberta, Mona and Leota

Perhaps never before in history has a quadruplet been married with the other three members of the quartet looking on as witnesses.

In fact, according to reliable medical authority, quadruplets occur but once in every 512,000 births, and these sisters are the only ones known to have reached maturity.

Twenty-five years of age, university graduates and as brilliant as they are beautiful, they have led normal and useful lives.

Though they have been often in the spotlight since their birth on June 4, 1915, their parents wisely and successfully soft-pedalled any possible temptations that may have been offered to commercialize their unique position. The pressure in this direction must have been considerable.

Thinking of the Keys sisters always reminds us of the Dionne quintuplets who are slowly emerging from babyhood and becoming pretty little girls.

In the distant future they, too, may marry and the world will enjoy the extremely interesting sight of one sister's going to the altar with the young man of her choice while the other four act as bridesmaids.

CUPID IS BUSY in Boston. In fact, the little fellow with the wings and bow and arrow is busier than at any time since 1917.

According to City Registrar James A. Burke, a total of 580 couples have filed intentions since the first of the month, as compared to 518 in the corresponding period last year.

Furthermore, statistics show that 3768 couples have applied for marriage licenses so far this year—147 more than up to the same date a year ago.

There are many explanations offered for this boom in romance.

Noting the mention of the year 1917 and remembering the wed-before-the-draft experience of that World War period, some people cynically attribute it to a desire on the part of many young men to avoid military service.

But we cannot agree. Business is improving. Jobs are more plentiful. For the first time in several years, hundreds are able to afford homes and families of their own.

NEW ENGLAND CITIES have large quantities of factory space, machinery and labor that can be diverted to national defense production, says Powell Cabot, chairman of the Massachusetts Development and Industrial Commission.

Obviously, Mr. Cabot is addressing authorities in Washington, for his statement will hardly be news to persons who reside in this area.

We have the largest mills in the world. They extend for miles along the banks of the Merrimack and Connecticut rivers. It is almost impossible to ride in a train or automobile for more than an hour without seeing four or five abandoned factories.

Not all of these buildings are adaptable to the manufacture of aircraft, munitions and other military equipment. But a great many of them are.

So why not use them? Certainly they could be remodelled and reconditioned much more cheaply and quickly than new plants could be built.

BOSTON PEDESTRIANS who have been angered on more than one occasion by the thoughtlessness of motorists who block walking lanes and intersections will enjoy the story that the Associated Press solemnly reports from Memphis, Tenn.

In that city, a sedan pulled across the white line, forcing many to walk around it. But one man—unfortunately unidentified—had a plan and he rapidly put it into execution.

He grasped the back door of the offending automobile, stepped inside, opened the other door and stepped out before the surprised motorist could voice an objection.

Then the irate pedestrian went his way, leaving both doors open and obliging the driver to get out and shut them.

The plan might be used effectively in Boston. We have more than our share of hoggish drivers, as well as a plentiful supply of long-suffering pedestrians.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt -:- -:- MY DAY

NEW YORK CITY, June 19—Yesterday afternoon, at the session of the state directors of the National Youth Administration, they discussed the problem of obtaining better health facilities for the youth of the nation through the co-operation of the Social Security agencies.

First, a doctor painted a very pretty picture of the health facilities available through state departments of health and local setups, and then gradually this charming picture was spoiled by the reports of actual conditions in the field.

One encouraging thing was the ingenuity which has been developed in certain places by the NYA directors in their efforts to obtain co-operation from state and local health groups. They have gone on the principle of "Give, so that others may give unto you."

In many cases it has proved a very good theory of action. One young man has his NYA projects making oxygen boxes, tuberculosis collapsible tents and incubators, and in return he receives a health examination for all the young people on his projects.

SINCE WE ARE ALL interested in the training program now, which may be of service to youth whether it is called to war or whether it is allowed peacefully to pursue its livelihood at home, there will, I hope, be a co-ordinating of all the facilities for training young people.

Among these, the trade schools of the nation will be extremely valuable. I was interested to find that the United States Office of Education has information on just what facilities are available.

We have in this country 1053 well equipped schools in 825 cities, representing every state in the union. There is a joint investment totalling a billion dollars in all these schools, one-half of which is in equipment.

In addition to this, there are 155 engineering schools on the higher level of technical ability. With their equipment they could increase their present enrollment by 30,000 trainees per year. This information is valuable in co-ordinating our efforts in the field of training.

I AM SURE that many people who, like myself, have lived long periods of time in foreign countries, are feeling heavy hearted these days because of the sorrow which is engulfing friends in other nations. This taking over of three small countries by Russia may be a case of self-defense, but we used to think ourselves equally well defended by friendly neighbors.

The plight of France, which has been a refuge for so many exiles from other nations, brings up a sad picture of what may happen to these refugees, as well as to the natives of France itself.

The German people have been fortunate that neither in the last war nor in this one, has much of the fighting been on their own soil. I sometimes think that has built up insensibility among them to what it means to be invaded.

One does not expect mercy from their leaders, but one hopes almost against hope that the qualities of the individual Germans, whom so many of us have known and respected and loved, will make it impossible for them to carry out harsh and unjust demands made upon their gallant enemies.

MOVING down by the sea tomorrow. Besides the sea there is a lake near where we are going. I may take up canoeing in a serious way. There are also bridle paths. I might go for a ride some morning after breakfast. Most people ride before breakfast. But not me, when I get up I want my breakfast. One thing has been worrying me about this life by the sea. This concern has been caused by again seeing that advertising line: "Have you thought how you will look in a bathing suit."

A FANCY STATISTIC says the death rate for bachelors is 50 per cent higher than for married men. That needs checking. Life insurance boys want to get all the bachelors married they can. Bachelors are not good customers for life insurance policies . . . A Dr. Robert Keeton, evidently a man who does not care what happens to him, comes right out and says the reason there are more fat women than fat men is because the women do not have enough housework . . . "I am tall and in love with a man who is very little taller than the average midget," writes a Beverly Hills client. "I often wonder if women of Amazonian proportions who marry short men ever get over being self-conscious as to the difference in height. Especially when they walk down a busy street or through a crowded hotel lobby."

SHOULD A WIFE remain a teacher if her husband is also a teacher? A Detroit reader says not. And he is very bitter about it. Says he knows a couple, the husband the head of a high school English department, and the wife a high school principal who draw $1200 a month between them . . . Who was it said: "The world is full of women, and the women full of wile. Anyway, he spoke like a man of experience. Take the women of the Republican-Fusion Campaign Committee of New York. They have issued advice on "how to get your husband to vote the way you want him to." Some of the things advised to influence the old boy's vote are: "Don't mention fur coats until after election. Laugh at all his jokes. Be sure he has one-fourth of the space in the clothes closet. Handle his late homecomings with gloves. Weep not, talk not, nag not. Send your mother to the country. Spend an extra quarter of an hour on your make-up."

FROM MY LIFE and Loves by Dancer Ann Corio: "I am a Sagittarius. According to astrology, Sagittarius is frank, revealing and non-secretive. I guess it was in the stars for me to become what I did, a strip-tease dancer."

ONLY ONE PLAY of a serious nature is playing on Broadway . . . "Tobacco Road" would make the list of successful dramas double, or two . . . But we exclude "Tobacco Road" . . . This exhibit is no longer a mere show. It is a national curio, and—in its seventh consecutive year—an institution which has as strong a chance of permanent survival as the Bronx Zoo . . . The serious play is Robert E. Sherwood's "There Shall Be No Night" . . . Anything Mr. Sherwood writes is a hit . . . Perhaps, for that reason, we can cite his latest opus as an abnormal exception to what is certainly a cycle . . . A cycle of comedy.

THE SIGNIFICANCE OF ALL THIS is simply the following conclusion, to wit . . . Hollywood will embark very soon on a cycle of comedy-production . . . First bulletins to this effect, unfortunately, have not started to flood the wires in support of what must, for the time, remain a personal thesis on the part of this column . . . But we feel positive that Hollywood will swing to the comic . . . History proves that the cinema great minds repeatedly go to Broadway for their cues . . . Broadway's influence is never conceded to be the determining factor of the various cycles, but Hollywood gives very little credit to strangers at any time.

MANY EXAMPLES COME TO MIND of the truth of the statement that the New York theater is the source of the Hollywood inspiration of decisions to "give the public what it wants" . . . We are supposed to believe that the mental divining rods of the West Coast Mr. Bigs have oscillated over an all-embracive area of the land and lo! comes a succession for instance, of war pictures. ("The Big Parade," "This Cockeyed World," "All Quiet on the Western Front" . . .)

MEANTIME, A GREAT PLAY like "What Price Glory" has done the pioneering of the public taste as of that particular period . . . But what difference? . . . It should be good news that a comedy cycle is inevitable . . . That lads like The Ritz Brothers, temporarily in disfavor because of the hungry handling which (mixed metaphor) sent them to the wells too often, will get a real chance again, should be good news . . . And hooray! That musical pictures and frothy plots will be in again . . . It will be a relief.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Al Jolson's new musical play, "Wha-Hoo!" with a dude-ranch background, would have been opening in Boston June 30 instead of in Detroit, were it not for the fact that eight large conventions are contemporaneous with the play's opening there . . . A sellout in Detroit already assured, the show will move to Chicago for a run . . . Jolson's ex-wife, Ruby Keeler and Martha Raye, Jack Whiting, Lionel Stander, Bert Gordon, Gil Lamb and Jinx Falkenburg are some of the other actors . . . The song-hit? . . . "There's a Great Day Coming."

WHO'LL BE FIRST 'CALAMITY?'

By Harriet Parsons

Bette Davis

Pinch-Hitting for Louella O. Parsons, Who Is on Vacation

HOLLYWOOD, June 19—Get your front row seats, folks, for the big tug of war between Warners and M-G-M over "Calamity Jane" is about to take place. Not more than a week ago Warners announced that a story on Calamity's colorful career was in preparation as a forthcoming Bette Davis vehicle.

Now this morning Metro announces plans to star Ann Sothern as the famous Calamity. Writer Ronald Holders is at work lining up material on the pioneer tiger cat, and the studio tells me the story will be ready for production shortly after Ann finishes "Dulcy."

OLIVIA DE HAVILLAND

The Warner script by Jerry Wald and Richard Macaulay is already complete, but Bette couldn't possibly do it until she returns from a three months vacation after "The Letter." Warners aren't a bit worried, however, claiming they registered the idea with the Hays office two months ago . . . So you see a battle is really on!

* * *

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Talk is heard that Tom Lewis is out here to get his divorce . . . yes or no from Loretta Young. L. O. P. must have had a big disappointment when Clark Gable, Sig Ludwig from Boston and Lana Turner's West Coast Washington and Reno flights . . . February . . . Where were Bobby Breen and his father when Lady Tuesday Weld was born? . . . Yes, the Del Ruizes expect their stork in late September and the Kent Taylors are hoping it's a boy . . . Olivia de Havilland will be a Fourth of July arrival.

The Jack Bennys . . . Jet Hopkins leaves with daughter Joanie and the Merl Pitts . . . Marx's son and brother-in-law and Sam Woods take off Friday.

ERROL FLYNN'S palpitating public will be glad to know that his bosses at Warner Brothers have at last made up their minds what their dashing glamor laddie is to do next. "Santa Fe Trail," "Captain Horatio Hornblower" and "The Constant Nymph" have all been announced for him at various times. Now Executive Producer Hal Wallis comes right out in meeting and says Flynn will start "Santa Fe Trail" in three weeks. Errol's due back from South America in two weeks, so he won't have much time for preparation before he heads for Santa Fe, New Mexico, on location. As his director he'll have Michael Curtiz, who megged both "Dodge City" and "Virginia City." Leading lady will probably be Olivia De Havilland.

TWO-MINUTE STORY

THE BOSS was in a nasty humor this morning and made no bones about it. This was the day Leslie Jenkins was coming for the interview the boss had been trying to get for the past six months.

Donald Evarts was doing some lumbering up in the mountains but a piece of v-shaped land was working all kinds of hardship upon his operations.

About a year ago he found out that the owner was Leslie Jenkins.

He sent cables to Leslie Jenkins personally offering any price for that miserable bit of land just to receive a negative reply.

He even threatened to take the matter up with the governor.

A letter that came in the mail one day was in no way calculated to making him any better natured. It said:

"Dear Sir:

"I am becoming more and more annoyed by your persecutions. I own that piece of land and mean to keep it in spite of all your threats. However, I have decided to come to your office and tell you personally what a bully I believe you to be.

"Yours in disgust,

"LESLIE JENKINS."

NOW THE TIME for the Leslie Jenkins interview had arrived.

His secretary came to the door.

"Are you ready to see Leslie Jenkins, sir?"

A strange smile lurked about the corners of her lips as she asked the question.

He forgot that the office was far from soundproof and that in his excitement he had raised his voice.

"Bring him in."

"By the way, what seems to be so amusing? I'll deal with him. I'll break his neck if I need to in order to get hold of that land."

DONALD EVARTS turned from the window to face his caller. Before him stood the loveliest young woman he had seen in a long time.

"Here is the neck you wanted to break, Mr. Evarts."

"It deserves a better fate," he said.

Being young they burst into spontaneous, hearty laughter. The employes in the outer office sighed with relief. Some one ventured: "Perhaps the boss will win yet."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

I DON'T BELIEVE it, Mrs. Roosevelt! Which is certainly an unique statement, coming from me, who have always been Mrs. FDR's constant and enthusiastic admirer. Not that I go for everything she does. I simply couldn't endure that hat with the plumies, Eleanor! There oughtta be a law against agile Amazons, like you n' me, Going Rosebud.

But, apart from that, I think you're as regular a citizen as ever burned trails across this continent, and as gallant a lady.

Moreover, our Favorite Dish is identical—we both are loco about K-I-D-S. And strong for helping them. But when it comes to method I rise to disagree.

GENEROUS Lady Eleanor believes there should be no limit to the service we should give to Youth, the tolerance we should show toward its possible blunders, the opportunity we should offer it, and the protection we should devise for it if any Ole Meanies start picking on it.

In a recent interview, she explained her general program as regards Young America: To prevent future difficulties by keeping our eye on our youth, helping them to solve their problems, giving them a chance, not avoiding or condemning them."

Which, I admit, listens lovely.

Let us give the Youngsters our unbounded faith and friendliness by all means. Let us give them gratis all the resources of regular or "mail order" education which they can assimilate or are willing to take. Let us, above all, give them an opportunity to support themselves, marry and have a family.

But let us insist that they bring to this opportunity the same spirit which their fighting fathers brought!

LET THEM be willing to start at the bottom and work up gradually instead of expecting to take off where Dad and Mom ended.

Let them take any decent job that offers instead of demanding some specialized, pet position.

Let them discard the vicious attitude for which we older ones have been so largely responsible—the feeling that all handicaps are evil and unjust.

Let them realize, instead, that hard breaks are a normal part of existence, to be expected and assimilated.

That's my program for Youth, Lady Eleanor. No special exemptions, you'll note. No coddling—no pampering projects—no alibis when it's in the wrong. BUT I'LL BET THE KIDS CAN TAKE IT. AND IF THEY CAN'T, OR WON'T, THEN THIS IS A SWELL TIME TO FIND OUT!

Sandwiches For Summer

By MARTHA LEE

SUMMER BECKONS the family out of the house with its lure of gardening, sports and fresh air fun. But mealtime brings back hungry appetites to satisfy. Sandwiches are especially welcome in the summer, when Mrs. Homemaker wishes to serve up an attractive, nourishing meal in a hurry.

No tricks and mysteries cloud sandwich-making. The rules are few; the trimmings depend on the imagination of the cook and on the contents of bread box, refrigerator and cupboard shelves.

BREAD FOR SANDWICH-MAKING

Bread is the most important part of a sandwich, so care should be taken to select the best quality available. Home-made bread or baker's bread may be used. The long and rectangular shape of Pullman or sandwich loaf permits cutting to good advantage, but many people prefer the eating quality and texture of the standard shape of loaf. If the bread is not ready-sliced, use a sharp knife that cuts bread slices smoothly.

There is no bread favoritism when it comes to sandwich-making.

SAVORY BAKED BEANS SANDWICHES

1 cup Boston baked beans
½ cup chopped nut meats
¼ cup chopped celery
½ small onion, minced
2 tbsp. tomato ketchup
¼ tsp. salt
12 slices buttered toast

Mash beans and add nuts, vegetables, and seasonings, mixing thoroughly; spread between slices of toast. Makes 6 sandwiches.

SICILIAN SANDWICHES

4 slices bread
2 tbsp. butter
¼ cup American cheese spread
2 medium-sized tomatoes, sliced
2 tbsp. India relish
4 strips bacon

Spread each slice of bread with butter, then with cheese spread. Arrange tomato slices over cheese and spread with India relish. Top each sandwich with 2 half slices of bacon; place under broiler until bacon is crisp and cheese melted. Serve hot. Makes 4 sandwiches.

ITALIAN EGG-ANCHOVY SANDWICHES

2 hard-cooked eggs
1 tbsp. minced celery
¼ tsp. paprika
Mayonnaise
1 loaf cracked wheat bread
1 jar rolled anchovies

Remove egg yolks and wash with celery, paprika, and enough mayonnaise to moisten. Mince egg whites and moisten with mayonnaise. Cut bread as desired; spread ½ of each slice with egg yolk mixture and other half with egg white mixture. Top with a rolled anchovy. Makes 12 sandwiches.

LIVERWURST SANDWICHES

7 slices liverwurst
½ pkg. (3 oz) cream cheese
3 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
3 tbsp. mayonnaise
Dash of salt
Dash of pepper
½ tsp. chopped chives
Butter
12 slices rye bread

Mash liverwurst; add cheese, eggs, mayonnaise, salt, pepper and chives, and mix well. Spread between buttered slices of rye bread. Makes 6 portions.

How to Spend Spare Time

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

My girl friend and I are 17 years of age and do not have any boy friends. We figure we have plenty of time for that. However, we never know what to do in the evening except go to an occasional movie or take a walk. Neither of us has a lot of money.

We would very much appreciate some suggestions from you as to how we can spend our evenings.

R. B. D.

I don't wonder you find the evenings long with nothing to do beyond seeing an occasional movie. It's tragic to waste golden youth that way.

What would you think of starting a club? You can begin with half a dozen girls. Inquire at the Y. W. or similar organizations about their activities.

Why not start a home-maker's club and learn about canning fruits and vegetables? In many places the government will give you the services of a domestic science counsellor, if you're in earnest.

The other day someone told me of a jolly club. A group of young people went hiking, or on some outing every Sunday afternoon. The boys bought the franks or bacon and the trimmings, and the girls prepared the supper over a campfire.

A New Hair Set Lotion

By ARLINE GOULD

REMEMBER the dismal days when it took a solid hour or more to dry the hair which was set in rigid waves by sticky, gummy fluids? There have been incredible improvements in waving lotions . . . and none has surpassed one which will be a summer boon for you . . . a lovely, light "quick set" that dries in a third of the time required by most others!

If you're as beauty-wise as we know you are, you'll take along your own bottle to the hairdresser . . . and since it is not expensive, and very little is used at a time, you'll have an extra cost of only a few pennies per wave, which you'll more than make up in the time and temper saved.

It's more than a mere wave set, you should know. In it are protective ingredients which actually spring to your hair's defense under the hot waves of air from the dryer.

And . . . more than that . . . there are sheen-making ingredients, too. Bygone setting lotions were guilty of leaving a dulling residue in your looks. Not this one! And this is indeed a quality few of even the new, improved lotions can guarantee you . . . the softly flattering gleam!

In applying it, the lotion should be poured rather heavily to the roots of the hair, then combed through thoroughly . . . then go on with your set.

If you'd like to learn about this sheen-making, protective wave-setting lotion which dries in a third of the regular time . . . . phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, week-days except Saturday, or write, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Shotput in Duke's Teeth

By Anthony Rud

THE AFTERNOON that the Yankee trio churned out of the muskeg and tramped in among the tents and shanties of the settlement, the town of Duke's Teeth was 365 days old. This being a Leap Year, the morrow would celebrate the anniversary of the greatest gold strike in northern Ontario.

The camp took its name from Roaring Mike Bannon's strike. The big black-eyed fellow with the piebald black-and-white hair had shoveled his way to bedrock near Sick Moose Creek. There he found a series of 19 small rock pockets filled with nuggets, flake and grain placer gold.

These had seemed to Mike like gold inlays in what he called "the teeth of a dook." So when the big rush came, and half a dozen more pay-dirt strikes were made along the creek, the lusty, bawdy camp which mushroomed overnight was christened Duke's Teeth.

Bill Sommers, Two-By-Twice Thomas, and Denver Doane had all been juniors at Yale. For adventure, and in hope of making their everlasting fortunes, they had flown from Toronto to Loon Lake—the best way of getting near Sick Moose Creek—and there had got unstaked for a summer of prospecting.

Now in late August they were trudging back, empty-handed.

They were flat broke, faced with the necessity of working for someone until they amassed plane fare—or else, of wiring their respective families. And they had sworn in their beards to get back to civilization under their own power. It was a matter of pride.

No one in the mining camp was working this afternoon. In fact, for two whole days, getting ready for the track meet which would polish off the anniversary celebration on the morrow, Duke's Tooth—and tonsils—had been plentifully lubricated with all the bottled brands of oil of joy which the six package stores had in stock.

Now the best stuff was gone, the inhabitants had fallen back on mixed alcohol, sugar and water, brought into the camp in barrels duly labeled, CERTIFIED BEAR GREASE.

The three hungry and disappointed prospectors soon found that it was not necessary to have money in their pockets this afternoon and night. Every tent had an open flap, every cabin its latch-string out. Great roasted chunks of "forest lamb"—deer, elk or moose out of season—were offered the newcomers, along with tin cups brimming with innocent-appearing fluids which, however, readily dissolved varnish, stomach-linings and whatever else they were able to reach and corrode.

PLANE FARE!

Somehow the three got separated. Each one heard a lot about the track meet on the morrow. There were to be eight events with $100 and $50 prizes in currency for the first and second place in each event.

"This is where we get our plane fare back to the States!" whispered Roaring Mike something to bellow about.

"Bejabers, men!" he shouted, so loudly that an old porcelain cuspidor shivered into shards, "we've been needin' a jedge to jedge our footraces! Well, boys, here he is! Mister-r Bill Sommer-rs of Yale, the wor-rld's gr-reatest pot-shooter—uh, shotpooter!"

Loud chorus of acclaim told Bill the horrible truth, that he had been elected an official and therefore could not compete!

Protests did him no good at all. He was elected; and if he ever dreamt of refusing these wildly celebrating men, they would just as soon tear him to pieces as puzzle down another gill of canned heat. He shuddered and turned pale. He was in for it!

The Cast of Characters in "Shotput in Duke's Teeth"

ROARING MIKE the boss of everything in Duke's Teeth, a one-year-old mining camp.

BILL SOMMERS, Two-By-Twice Thomas and Denver Doane, tenderfeet who had prospected, but failed.

Bill Sommers delightedly, before he lost his comrades. "Don't drink anything, so you'll be able to pick up some seconds or maybe a first or two to help out. I'll get two firsts or bust a couple or three legs!"

What he meant by that was not disparagement of his comrades, Two-By-Twice and Denver. Two-By-Twice was a fair sort of pole valuter, being able to clear about 12 feet eight inches.

But the schedule of events did not include a pole vault.

Denver Doane could throw a javelin 200 feet or more. He was a good intercollegiate competitor in the discus throw, as well.

Both javelin and discus had been omitted from the program.

So both Two-By-Twice and Denver were going to try to place or win in the two dashes, and maybe also in the half mile and mile runs, if their strength endured. They never had tried to be runners of any sort.

Bill Sommers, though, was different. He could heave the 16-pound shot in the neighborhood of 53 feet; and he was a sure point winner in the hammer throw in anybody's back yard.

These two events were scheduled for the next day. It was only becoming self-confidence in Bill to think he ought to place first in both. That would mean $200. Fare back by plane to Toronto was just $100 each—$300 for all of them. That meant Bill's two comrades only had to squeeze out two second places, and they would be on their way!

AN ATH-A-LETE!"

When a town is celebrating on white lightning, though, almost anything can happen. Roaring Mike Bannon himself it was who spied the outline of a block Y on Bill Sommers' grimy track shirt. He was wearing no outer shirt this hot evening, unfortunately. Bill had removed the blue Y, of course, but the outline was still there, plain to be seen. And Roaring Mike knew just enough to guess that this meant Yale University.

"Bejabers, an ath-a-lete!" bellowed Mike in his voice of thunder, smashing down a heavy fist on a barrel top.

In the course of a pint or so, Mike forced Bill Sommers to admit that he had tossed the shot a little for Yale. And that gave Gone were the chances of the three to fly back to Toronto. Almost any prospector in camp except a couple with cork legs, could beat his two comrades in any sort of a foot race.

An hour later Bill broke away, and sought out Young Mike Bannon, son of the camp founder. Bill had met Young Mike earlier, found him pale and tottery, just getting over a long attack of muskeg fever (dengue), and had been pleased to learn that the son had attended McGill, where he had been captain of the chess team.

Young Mike was now of no help, however. At thought of crossing the will of his huge, bellowing parent, he shuddered and shook his head. It was too bad, but Roaring Mike ruled the camp. What he said went.

The following afternoon Bill's worst fears were realized. Roaring Mike, a .45 Browning pistol in his hand, acted as starter for the 100-yard dash, the 2-20 and the other races. Once or twice when the competitors did not seem to be running fast enough to suit him, Mike flung lead slugs into the dust of the track near their feet. He had a bottle with him. He drank deeply from this each time he thrust in another loaded clip into the pistol. Sooner or later the "certified bear grease" was going to affect his aim.

Sullenly Bill Sommers stood down at the finish tape, judging the races. He half wished that Roaring Mike would sting Denver or Two-By-Twice in some non-dangerous place, so that one or the other might be spurred into winning at least one first place.

A RECORD THROW

But no dice. Roaring Mike kept his aim. A little mere white lightning never bothered him. And neither of the two quickly exhausted Yankees came within a dozen yards of winning even a second place.

Then when the prizes were awaited, Roaring Mike made a speech. He bellowed thanks to Bill for officiating, and then made a surprise announcement. Since they had with them this day a world renowned pot-shotter, Master Bill Sommers, they now would have an exhibition shotpooting. Bill would show them all how it was done, and no hard feelings from the boys who had competed earlier.

Dazed Bill found himself in the white-naked circle, holding a round rock in his hands. The rock was alleged to weigh 16 pounds, but it actually was nine pounds four ounces on a scale. The winner of the event, half an hour before, had hurled the stone 34 feet 7 inches.

Bill nodded and set his teeth. All his blind fury at this horrible fiasco welled up in his soul. He leaned back on his right leg flexed. He weighed the stone up and down near his set chin. Then with a savage yell of pure hate, he flung the rock as far as he could send it.

The awed and silent watchers did not stir till after the distance was announced. Seventy-one feet three inches!

Then a roar arose. A world's record, no doubt of it!

Roaring Mike was so moved that he tore the watch chain from his vest, and presented it, with a grandiloquent speech, to Bill Sommers as a special award for athletic supremacy.

Bill, staring, accepted the watch chain in both hands. It weighed a trifle over four pounds avoirdupois. It was made of gold links connecting seventeen of the largest nuggets which Roaring Mike had found in the first molar of the "dook's" teeth he had excavated.

It was after ten o'clock when Young Mike came, frowning in worry. He got Bill Sommers off by himself. It seemed that he was worried, even frightened, that Bill Sommers was taking away the nugget watch chain Roaring Mike, when sober, was bound to raise the roof. He valued it somewhat more dearly than the iris of his left eye.

"Would you sell it back to me?" pleaded Young Mike, almost tearful. "I'll keep it and give it to the old man when he sobers up. I—I know it's a terrible thing to ask, but I'd—I'd hate my father and you, too, as well as us! Why, he'll break—"

Much as I admire regret giving up [illegible] he said, "I can see your point. Yes, I'll do you [illegible] favor and sell it back. Here. Take it before I change my mind."

When Young Mike ran away joyfully, bearing the precious watch chain, Bill Sommers turned toward his comrades. They had crept up to the tent flap, and had been listening.

"Boys," said Bill, "it seems we fly back home tomorrow morning, with enough left to—well, so we won't need to stint on the barbecued hamburgers for a long while!"

But he was talking to himself. His two exhausted comrades had fainted.

French Leave Maginot Forts Deserted

BASEL, Switzerland, June 19 (AP)—Great Maginot line forts on the Rhine north of Basel were abandoned by their skeleton French garrisons this morning.

Powerful French forts of St. Louis, Hunique, village Neuf and Rosenau fired their last shells at German positions in Baden at 2:45 a. m., today and their garrisons retreated west toward Belfort.

Shortly after dawn 20 German soldiers led by a lieutenant paddled rubber boats across the Rhine just north of a buoy marking the "three countries corner" in the middle of the river where France, Germany and Switzerland come together.

The soldiers held machine-guns ready, but not a shot came from the deserted fortifications.

$100 CASH in your hands tomorrow!

No Payments Due for at Least 30 Days

That's the pleasant "Personal" way. You will know in advance what the cost is. You get the full amount of your loan. No extras, no fees, no fines. Your employer or friends are not notified. Endorsers are not required.

If you need $25, $250 or more, remember all that you need at "Personal" is the ability to repay small monthly installments which you pick to fit your purse. Come in or phone today for full information. There is absolutely no obligation.

PICK YOUR OWN PAYMENT

Cash Loan	Monthly Payments for 8 Mo	12 Mo	20 Mo.
$ 40	$5.73

Ford Frick Here to Act As Sales Agent for Bees

LAST TIME YOUNGISH, PREMATURELY GRAY Mr. Ford Frick sat in C. F. Adams' Milk st. sanctum was three years ago. Yesterday he sat again! Money was the subject, tangible assets, and the financial complexities of the Boston Bees. For the prexy of the National League has a couple of nibbles from prospective customers for the Boston franchise, for its big sprawling carbarn stands and its contract athletes.

AUSTEN LAKE

So he was taking pencil jottings of C. F. Adam's $560,020 investment which, since last year, C. F. has turned over as a second hand heartburn to Bob Quinn—for better or for worse, in sickness and in health, for richer or poorer, as the marriage service says.

"Maybe next week, maybe next month" hazarded the ascetic looking N. L. boss. But inevitably the Bees would be sold. Prospective buyers, undismayed by frightened finance and war perplexities, have been enquiring.

Frick had hoped to slip in and out of Boston via the freight and ash entrances, collect his data and disappear without detection. But he submitted to interview patiently, scratch pad on knee, pencil poised, ledgers open.

How much money would it take to buy out the Adams' interest? Ford figited! Adams answered! "A major league franchise is valued at a quarter million," said C. F., as Frick nodded, taking the cue. "Yes!" said Ford, "at least. That's the book valuation every National League club sets on its franchise, more in most cases."

"It will be a bargain at half a million," added Adams. "Yes," agreed Frick, "it's a better ball club now than when Bob Quinn took it over. They had twenty-one ball players then, none worth anything in resale value. Now they've got 120 men stuck around the minor leagues and a group of fellows like Miller, West Errickson, Hassett, Rowell, Posedel, Ross, Masi, Piechota Strincevich, Fette. They're not far away."

Adams Wants Out!

NOT FAR AWAY FROM WHAT? "Why," said Frick, slightly nettled, "not far away from being a sound, contending, up-in-the-race ball club. They're no cripples—physically!"

Why physically? "Because," said Frick, "their trouble is frozen finances—absence of the little dollar corpuscles which feed the blood, bones and muscles of the business body. It's a peculiar position."

Why peculiar? Adams interposed! "Because," he explained, "I'm handcuffed by agreement with Judge Landis. The Judge, whose position . . . ahem! . . . I respect, doesn't want a baseball sponsor who is

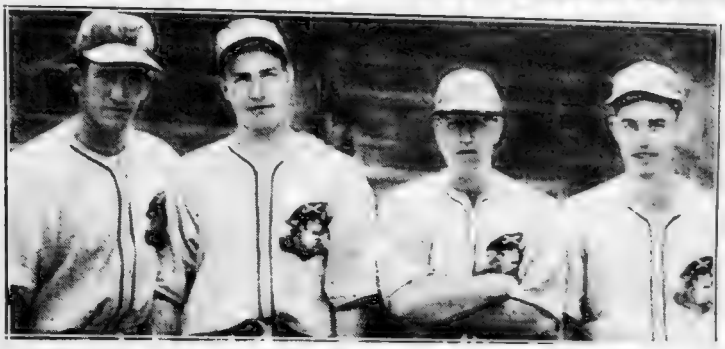
UNDEFEATED ERRICKSON GUNS FOR 5TH VICTORY



ALUMNI—Ex-Bees who hope to lift Pirates into first division are, left to right: Al Lopez, Elbie Fletcher, Debs Garms and Vincent DiMaggio. Pirates dropped holiday double header to Bees after winning two from Giants.

By BILL GRIMES

After a one day armistice, the Bees and the Pittsburgh will start the second half of their current series with a single game this afternoon at National League Field.

Manager Casey Stengel will send his undefeated hurler, Dick Errickson, after Onkel Franz Frisch's Buccaneers. Richard Merriwell Errickson has been credited with four victories this season but nary a defeat. He was almost a complete washout last season due to a shoulder injury which occured when he attempted a swan dive into second base and made a one point landing on his right shoulder.

Ray Berres did such a perfect job while catching Bill Posedel in the first game of the holiday double header that Manager Casey will have him do the receiving for Errickson.

An ex-Pirate Ray knows the Pittsburghers' weaknesses and if Dick has his control he should be as successful as was "Porthole" Posedel who held the Pirates to six hits and set up a new National League record for the season by striking out 11 batters.

Joe Bowman will be Onkel Franz's choice for mound duty. Bowman won 20 and lost 14 last season, during which he served as a starting and relief pitcher. Most of his 1939 setbacks were games which he relieved.

Onkel Franz is balder and grayer than when he came to town Monday morning. At that time he thought he was sitting on the top of the world not on the rim of a volcano. His Pirates had taken a twin bill from the Giants. He was street company that morning, and up to game time. He was cracked about taking his Bucs down to Kimball's for a lobster dinner and even put on impromptu radio broadcasts.

But it was a far different Onkel Franz who left National League Field along about 7:30 that evening. The Pirates had lost two games to the Bees, slipped into seventh place, a half game in arrears of the Stengelese.

If the Bees knock off the Pirates again this afternoon, there'll be no holding Onkel Franz. He won't even have an appetite for fried clams and jumbo lobsters for yet dishes.

But there'll be nothing the matter with Casey Stengel's digestive organs, should the Bees bury another defeat on the Pirates. Casey cannot get even victuals to satisfy his appetite.

CRONIN, WILLIAMS BLOWUP IN FIELD GIVES 'OSTY' LEG

By JOE CASHMAN

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 19—Having rid their systems of a lot of bad baseball over a ten-inning stretch, while dropping their first decision in seven games in the opener of the current series with the Browns, the Red Sox step out today promising to immediately start another win streak.

Their confidence is based (1) on the fact that Herbie Hash will be on the mound; (2) on a firm conviction that it will be a long time before they again turn in such a sloppy performance as they did yesterday.

FAITH IN HASH

Their faith in Hash is logical. The youngster from Minneapolis shapes up as the ace of the staff. Brilliant as a relief artist in the early weeks of the race, he's been even more sensational as a starter.

His last two assignments, separated by two weeks because he had to undergo a knee surgery, found him beating the Yankees in New ork on Memorial Day and turning back the White Sox with four hits in Chicago last Saturday. And, when he steps out this p. m., he'll be seeking to be the first Cronin chucker to gain six victories.

Equally logical is the Fenway favorites' belief that many moons will come and go before they make as many errors of commission and omission as they did in dropping the Tuesday tilt, 11 to 7.

NO. 7 UNLUCKY FOR SOX

It would seem that they are plagued by a mental hazard when they try to pass that six-straight mark.

This was the second time they tripped and fell going after No. 7. The first time they suffered their first shutout of the season by being blanked by Charlie Ruffing of the Yanks.

They hit well enough against the Browns, getting 13 blows, including four doubles and Jim Tabor's ninth homer. That wasn't sufficient because they made one mistake after another until Johnny Berardino ended the prolonged agony by lifting a Jim Bagby pitch into the left field stands for a homer with the bases loaded and none out in the tenth.

CRONIN HUNCH WRONG

Admitting that Manager Joe Cronin was entitled to a few wrong guesses, it must also be admitted that he made his first of yesterday before the game started.

It was the turn of Mickey "Lefty" Harris to pitch. The skipper, instead, played a hunch and nominated Fred "Lefty" Ostermueller, only Sox pitcher who hadn't won a ball game excepting Charlie Wagner, who has no record.

At that, "Osty" might have gone the route to gain victory if Boss Joe and Teddy Williams hadn't let him down and, passing out of the pastime in the seventh, he'd still have been credited with a triumph if Emerson Dickman had been able to hold a one-run lead in the ninth.

Ex-Sox Eldon Auker, who mesmerized his old Fenway mates on the Browns last visit to Boston, started against "Osty" and was trailing 3 to 0, until the Haney henchmen put over four cheap tallies in the third.

KID GETS FENCE JITTERS

The trouble all started when Williams got fence jitters in going after a drive by Bob Swift and a ball, which apparently might have been caught, hit the base of the barrier for a double.

Later on in the frame, with the bases full and one down, George McQuinn tapped to Cronin. Joe had only to take a couple of steps to touch second and throw to first for a twin-killing. He selected, however, to toss to Doerr and the time wasted enabled the batter to beat the peg to first. One run came in on that play and three more trickled across when a single by Clift and a double by Hoag followed.

Cronin settled down thereafter, but Williams didn't.

Behind a run entering the ninth, the home boys got a break right off the bat when Heffner singled and managed to reach second as "The Kid" kicked the ball around. Thus Judnich, who'd have been trying to sacrifice with a runner on first, was at liberty to hit away, which he did, to get a single and tie the score.

BERARDINO'S GRAND SLAM

Came the tenth and Teddy climaxed a decidedly off day by letting a Clift clout go over his head for a double. That put Brownies on third and second with none out. So Pinch-Hitter Lyn Lary was purposely walked.

And Berardino teed off in contrast to our lads, who filled the sacks with one gone in the first of the frame and failed to count against Bill Trotter.

Still, no club can be expected to win 'em all.

And it could be worse, as far as the Yawkey A. C. is concerned.

Our heroes remain on top.

As long as they stay there it matters little how often or in what fashion they are beaten.

Batters' Helmets?

Plan Aided By Medwick Beaning

NEW YORK, June 19 (INS) Back in the halcyon days when there were more "feuds" in baseball than in the hills of Kentucky, Roger Bresnahan, a tough New York Giants catcher, introduced shin-guards.

Almost immediately the big mask-and-pad man was branded by fans and enemy players alike as a softie. But Roger, oblivious to the taunts of the multitude, continued to play in his protective equipment. Now, as you know, shinguards are an important part of a catcher's wearing apparel.

A similar situation, heightened yesterday when Joe Medwick, newly-acquired Brooklyn Dodgers outfield star, was struck on the head by a pitched ball, is faced by ball players of today.

HELMETS SCORNED

For the past few years, some club owners have been trying to get their players to don light aluminum helmets as protection against the "bean" ball. Each time the innovation was attempted the players rejected the "tin hats" because they were too "sissified."

Medwick an exCardinal, suffered a concussion when he was "beaned" by one of Bob Bowman's pitches in the first inning of a game which the Dodgers lost, 7 to 5, to the St. Louis Cardinals in 11 innings. The incident caused a near-riot and Larry MacPhail, president of the Dodgers, said he was planning to demand disciplinary action against Feeman from Ford Frick, president of the National League.

It was the Cardinals' sixth consecutive victory and the Dodgers' fourth straight defeat.

The Chicago Cubs humbled the New York Giants, 6 to 1 in a night game, Jake Mooty, a Chicago relief pitcher, doing the job. In the other National League game, also a night encounter, the lowly Phillies beat the Cincinnati Reds, 3 to 1.

CHISOX POUND NATS

In the American League, the Browns, after staging a ninth inning rally to tie the score, captured a spectacular 10-inning contest from the league-leading Red Sox, 11 to 7.

After losing his five last starts, Edgar Smith changed his luck at the expense of the tottering Yankees. The southpaw limited the New Yorkers to six safeties, while the White Sox pounded three pitchers for 14 hits to gain a 5 to 3 victory. The Philadelphia-Detroit game was rained out.

The Indians tripped the Senators, 2 to 1, in a night game, going into a tie with the Detroit Tigers for second place.

Medwick 'Rests Easily'; MacPhail Irate

NEW YORK, June 19 (INS)—Joe Medwick, the Dodgers' $200,000 muscle man, was resting easily in Caledonian Hospital today with a head concussion suffered in the game with the Cardinals when he fell victim to a ball flung by Pitcher Bob Bowman.

Medwick's headache was as nothing compared to the high fever displayed by Larry MacPhail, volatile president of the Dodgers. Charging the "beaning" was deliberate, MacPhail issued a statement demanding disciplinary action against Bowman.

Joe's wife was in the stands watching her husband play and became hysterical as he fell to the ground.

Irish Heavyweight Enters Dilboy Show

Pat Shea of Galway, Ireland, promises to add plenty of spice to the heavyweight class when the amateurs start flinging leather in the opening show of the Dilboy Post, V. F. W., at Dilboy Stadium, a week from tonight.

STENGEL PLANS TO PLAY ROSS IN CENTERFIELD

By BILL GRIMES

Bob "Ace" Williams has signed a Bees contract and will report to Manager Casey Stengel tomorrow . . . "Ace" spent his Easter vacation at Bradenton, Fla., with the Bees . . . Then, he returned to Amherst from which college he receives his sheepskin today . . . He's a tall, skinny kid . . . He's built and acts like "Lefty" Gomez of the Yanks . . . He was unearthed by Jeff Jones, baseball coach at Newton High, while acting as a counselor at Izzy Zarakov's summer camp . . . He made a Western trip with the Bees last season and was the recipient of much valuable information from Johnny Cooney . . . "Ace" is a very apt pupil and in all probability Manager Casey Stengel will develop him in fast company, instead of gambling by sending him to work under a minor league manager.

Al Javery, the elongated right hander from North Oxford, has the right spirit . . . Dr. Eddie O'Brien opened up a blind boil on Javery's neck last Friday . . . On Monday, Al paid a visit to Dr. O'Brien to have his neck dressed . . . Realizing that the Bees were shorthanded in their pitching department, Al told Casey Stengel before he left National League Field that he'd be back in time for the second game and believed that he could relieve if the Bees got into a jam . . . True to his word, Javery came back, donned his uniform and spent the rest of the afternoon warming up for an emergency, for Al Piechota was in trouble almost from start to finish.

'Bama Rowell is built of the same stuff as Javery . . . He is playing with a bad back but refuses to admit that it is any handicap . . . And incidentally, there are only four National League regulars with a better batting average than Bama's .348.

Al Glossop was the property of the Red Sox in 1935 and 1936 . . . He played at Charlotte in '35 and the following years when Tom Yawkey moved his Piedmont League franchise to Rocky Point, Al went with the club . . . Then, he was sold to Syracuse, drifted down to Jersey City and finally got his chance with the Giants . . . He'll develop into a better ball player under Casey Stengel, who is one of the very few managers in the majors that can teach the game and get results.

Now that Al Piechota has weathered nine innings and has been credited with a real victory, he should become a consistent winner . . . Last spring, every American Association player your observer contacted, went out on a limb for Piechota . . . They all stated that he couldn't miss . . . He reported late, came up with a sore arm, a flock of boils and finally stopped a line drive with his shin and all in all he was out of uniform for almost two weeks.

Casey Stengel is seriously considering shifting Chet Ross into centre field, and assigning Max West to left, which is the field he plays best . . . Ross is faster than West and moreover he can go back better on hoists out in the neighborhood of the centre field fence . . . If Ole Case makes the shift, Ross should become the best batting centre fielder in the National League and will be in line for a healthy boost in salary.

Nick Strincevich, who has been at the Cardinal O'Connell House since last Friday is due to rejoin the Bees today . . . Nick suffered a fracture of his right ethmoidal plate when he ran into a return throw made by Bill Posedel a week ago in St. Louis . . . Manuel Salvo, the giant right hand pitcher acquired with Al Glossop from the New York Giants in exchange for Tony Cuccinello and a bundle of cash, is also due today . . . Salvo was on the road with the Jersey City club when the trade was consummated and returned to his baseball residence to gather his belongings

If Ray Berres was able to hold up his own offensively, he'd be a top ranking catcher . . . There isn't a better receiver or thrower in the majors than Berres but he has never been able to hit enough to become a first stringer . . . Although he hated to leave home, Joe Callahan, who was sold to the Kansas City Stars of the American Association, was very appreciative of his chance to play in a Class AA league . . . Joe couldn't get started this spring and naturally he began to lose confidence in his ability.

Heroes and Goats

By International News Service

HEROES—Johnny Berardino, St. Louis outfielder, whose 10th-inning homer with the bases filled, enab'ed the Browns to defeat the league-leading Red Sox; Edgar Smith, Chicago pitcher, who twirled a six-hitter as the White Sox defeated the Yankees.

GOATS—Johnny Hudson, Brooklyn infielder, whose wild heave allowed the Cardinals to score the winning run in the 11th; Jim Bagby, Boston pitcher, who gave up two walks, a double and a home run without retiring a man as the Red Sox lost in the 10th.

Longshot Trims Conde Rico

If horses blush, Conde Rico probably is doing it today as a result of his defeat by Stoney Brush, a $35.90 for $2 longshot, in yesterday's last race at Aqueduct, according to the Associated Press.

Conde Rico was the first beaten favorite in seven races.

The feature threatened to produce a mild upset until William Woodward's Dusky Fox went wide on the stretch turn.

Then the favored Bolingbroke, from Alfred Vanderbilt's stable, slipped through on the rail and won by a length from Hoew stable's Grandee.

Kayak 2d Rests

Owner Charles S. Howard has decided his star handicap racer, Kayak 2nd, will remain in California the rest of the year after a disastrous eastern tour that ended with the horse's serious illness, according to the Associated Press. Kayak's first objective, Howard says, will be the $25,000 Hollywood gold cup, July 27. He also will be raced at Del Mar and Bay Meadows.

M'CARTHY BLAMES PARENTS OF U. S. FOR VITT EPISODE

NEW YORK, June 19 (AP)—Even Arthur Donovan's best friends can't see how they can let him work Louis-Godoy tomorrow night after that magazine story in which Donovan picked Louis to win.

Up to yesterday, Dodger hurlers had been nicked for an even 50 homers . . . Jack Dempsey and Mike Jacobs are supposed to have buried the hatchet, but one paper reports the first conference Dempsey held in his new offices had to do with pans to bust the Jacobs boxing combine wide open . . . Edwin Puck, pitching star at Iowa State College, ended the season with a stretch of 50 innings without a walk.

THE CREPE HANGERS

Mike Haslin of the San Diego (coast league) club, drove a hearse last winter . . . Paul Gregory of Seattle sold tombstones . . . may combine their talents this fall.

May be a coincidence, but Umpire Bill Summers' name hasn't appeared on the Comiskey Park scoreboard since he was beaned with a pop bottle there two years ago . . . Whitey Bimstein, one of the tops when it comes to conditioning boxers, will handle Galento in the Max Baer fight.

Visiting baseball writers will bet you Curt Davis turns out to be more valuable to the Dodgers than Josephus Medwick . . . Bill Fay, the Notre Dame tennis captain, has gone to work on the sports desk of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette . . . Sammy Angott puts his N.B.A. lightweight title on the line against California Jackie Wilson at Los Angeles Labor Day.

ONE-MINUTE INTERVIEW

Joe McCarthy: "The owners of the Indians should have backed up Oscar Vitt with a new two-year contract . . . Do you know what's wrong? . . . The parents of the U. S. obey their children in that way we breed a race which does the sort of thing those Cleveland men did to Vitt."

By the way, did you see that picture of the Messrs. Hemsley, Feller and Keltner wearing crybaby caps? It was a pip . . . Bob Fitzsimmons, son of the old champ, is a neighbor of Joe Louis at Greenwood lake. Young Fitz, now past 40, may open a boxing school in the vicinity . . . Joe McCarthy is threteaning to shake up the Yanks again and has been giving Tommy Henrich workouts at first.

Night games are family affairs out in Joplin, Mo. Special price of 26 cents admits mom, pop and all the kids . . . Harry Jeffra will defend his bantamweight crown against Spider Armstrong in either Toronto or Washington next month If successful, he'll put it on the line against former champ Sixto Escobar in Baltimore in April.

Billy Stepp, Portland: "Snap out of it, Mr. Dempsey . . . Let Cowboy Luttrell beef and stew . . . What if you should happen to run into a wild haymaker? . . . Then the country from ocean to ocean, border to border and God bless America would laugh out loud."

IF JOE LOUIS is to retain his ring prestige, he must knock out Arturo Godoy of Chile when they clash in their 15-round bout for the heavyweight championship of the world at the Yankee Stadium, New York, tomorrow night.

Arturo Godoy

Heavyweight champions are rated on the power of their punch rather than on the nimbleness of their feet and their skill at boxing. This is why John L. Sullivan and Jack Dempsey will always be classed with the greatest fighters of all time. Both men were devastating hitters.

Louis came to the heavyweight title following a long string of knockouts. Joe is not a one punch fighter like Dempsey, but he is able to beat down most of his opponents by the force and frequency of his punches. Give Louis half a dozen wallops at any heavyweight and he will knock him out.

Louis lost standing as a champion when he failed to stop Godoy in their 15 round tussle in the New York Garden last winter. He also almost dropped his title. One of the judges voted for Godoy. One more ballot in his favor would have given the world's championship to the South American.

Godoy is a strong, powerful fellow and has not any fear of Louis. He will not be frightened before the bell sounds for the first round as was true of Max Baer.

Godoy fought from a crouch in his last bout with Louis, and the "Brown Bomber" found it difficult to hit him. Louis had to punch down at Godoy, and his blows lost their sting.

Godoy says that in the coming contest he will stand up and punch it out with the champion. This sounds like a pre-battle press agent story. Godoy isn't going to toss away his best chance of winning by giving up his original style.

Louis will have to find a way to make Godoy stand up straight.

Dave Shade Was Bobbing, Weaving Boxer

DAVE SHADE was one of the most successful bobbing and weaving boxers the ring has known. Dave put up some of his best battles in local rings.

Twice Shade fought Eddie Shevlin, and each won a decision. Shevlin used to rush to close quarters and straighten Shade up with short, jolting blows. Then Eddie could get a sock at Shade's jaw.

Shade's style completely baffled Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo when the latter was being hailed as a new Dempsey. Shade and Slattery fought at a New York ball park show. Shade crouched low and then started bobbing from side to side.

Slattery, a handsome youth with jet black hair, was a straight up fighter, and his jaw presented a perfect target for Shade.

Shade suddenly came up out of his crouch, and as he did he let his right hand blaze for Slattery's jaw. It was a perfect score, and Slattery was knocked out.

Jim Jeffries Boxed From a Crouch

JIM JEFFRIES was one of the old time heavyweights who boxed from a crouch. He found this method an effective defense. When the opportunity presented itself, Jeffries would come out of his crouch, and open fire with both hands. I never saw Jeffries box, but oldtimers tell me he was the equal of Dempsey when he was at the peak of his form.

"The modern heavyweight does not train hard enough," Jeffries once told me during a trip to Boston. "He is satisfied with three to five weeks of training. When I was boxing, I would work hard for three months getting ready for a match. There would be rough work in the mountains, boxing, road work and gym drills.

"The modern heavyweight would fall apart if asked to box 25 to 45 rounds."

Jeffries overlooked the fact boxing has speeded up. The present day fans would not tolerate the slow action of the old-time bouts.

There was once a period in boxing when a round ended with a knockdown. Boxers would take fake knockdowns when they were tired.

It is my opinion that boxing and every other sport today is better than in the good old days some of the veterans like to talk about. In those branches of athletes that can be rated by a time watch or a yardstick the modern athletes have surpassed the marks of the champions of yesteryear.

Joe Louis knows many things about training and boxing that were not known in the days of Sullivan, Corbett and Jeffries.

During his training for the Godoy bout, Louis says he has developed a way to overcome the Chilean's crouch. The "Brown Bomber" promises a kaye victory tomorrow night.

KEATS PICKS 12 OUT OF 14

In two days the New York ace has picked 12 winners in 14 races.

First—React—$6.50.
Second—Pharo Warrior—$3.50.
Third—Learned—$4.60.
Fourth—The Fiend—$11.50.
Fifth—Bay View—$5.00
Sixth—Brown Slave—$15.30.
Seventh—Michigan Flyer—$11.00.

Keats started off Tuesday as of to duplicate his Monday achievement but faltered in the third and seventh races.

Here was his Tuesday record:

First—Highland Queen—Won and paid $4.70.
Second—Jack Fly—Won and paid $5.70.
Third—Scatter Brain—Finished second and paid $3.50.
Fourth—Wise Niece—Won and paid $5.10.
Fifth—Bolingbroke—Won and paid $3.80.
Sixth—Dini—Won and paid $4.80.
Seventh—Woodbury—Ran out of the money.

AqueductHandle $583,518 a Day

By the Associated Press

New York race fans apparently are equally divided between the $2 bettors and those who lay $10 on the line at a time. A recapitulation for the first six days of the Aqueduct meeting shows that $2 bets made up .312 per cent of the total handle and $10 wagers .301 per cent.

The $5 and $50 bets also figured about equally in the total. The "handle" for six days was $3,501,050, an average of $583,518 daily.

O. S. Jennings' consistent sprinter, Blablah, which accounted for three straight purses during the current Charles Town, W. Va., meeting, has been sent to Delaware Park along with his stablemate, Royal Business. The latter is a candidate for the $10,000 New Castle Handicap Saturday.

College Hurling Ace Joins B's

Another Williams for Boston baseball.

Robert Williams, sensational hurler at Amherst College, who was sought by a number of major league clubs, signed with the Boston Bees it was announced yesterday afternoon.

Williams was first recommended to the Bees by Jeff Jones, Newton High coach who saw Williams play as a counsellor at a boys' camp in Maine a year ago.

Louis Must Win by K. O.

NEW YORK, June 19 (INS)—James Joy Johnston, who furnishes a substantial portion of boxing's sound effects, today pontificated that Joe Louis would slumberize Arturo Godoy by the seventh round or else blow his heavyweight coronet by a decision to the Chilean, Thursday night in the Yankee Stadium.

"Louis will have to go out and win in a hurry if he doesn't want to lose that title," staccatoed the elder sock statesman who manages Bob Pastor. "You wouldn't know it by the odds, but Louis is realliy in danger of being dethroned. It's Louis by a kayo within seven heats or Godoy on a decision in 15.

SICK FOR FIRST FIGHT

"Godoy claims he was sick shortly before the first fight and couldn't train properly. Still he went 15 rounds with the champion and wasn't hurt. Now Godoy is in perfect shape. He looks great in training. He may figure that Louis couldn't hurt him last time, so it's safe to make a stand-up fight of it.

"But that's where he'd be making a great mistake," said J. J. J. "A stand-up opponent is what Louis prefers. There's such a thing as being too courageous for your own good with a guy like Louis. It was Godoy's screwy style, his bobbing and weaving that proved his greatest asset in their first battle. He'd better stick to the same tactics."

Mr. Johnston, a renowned pooh-pooh'er, pooh-pooh'd the publicized intentions of the swing Mikado to tear into Godoy in windmill fashion from the opening bell.

LOUIS NEVER SMART

"Louis isn't the type of fighter to tear after an opponent," contended James Joy. "He never has been and he won't change now. People point to the second Schmeling fight as an example. But Louis didn't charge after Schmeling. He inched up to him slowly and the first punch Joe threw was a powerful left hook that had Max practically out there, although few onlookers realized it because he didn't fall. Then, with Schmeling helpless, Louis proceeded to chop him down.

"Joe never will be a smart fighter and maybe he won't be able to solve Godoy's screwy style again. Certainly from looking at him training, I didn't get an impression of his invincibility. He was slow and sluggish, while, on the other hand, Godoy was full of spirit.

"But, hell, imagine what kind of a heavyweight division we have if a guy like Godoy can become champion," J. J. J. confessed his kinship with that arch pessimistic philosopher Schopenhauer.

AUSTEN LAKE SAYS:

interested in a horse track. I'm proud of the men and organization at Suffolk Downs. But to relieve baseball of embarrassment I agreed to turn all my Bees' stock over to Bob Quinn—to remain aloof from operation and from further finance. I cannot feed more funds into the Bees without violating my pact with Landis."

It IS peculiar! For here is an absentee-owner, unable to administer his own property, unable to vote his own stock, unable to dictate the policies of club management and virtually as remote from his investment as the owners of expropriated oil wells in Mexico. It's his and it isn't, according to the finicky mandates of Landis-made law.

Frick hopes to find, among five nibbling syndicates, one that will take over ALL, not just part, of Adams'e holding, which amounts to $360,020. For, although Adams, heartily sick of god-fathering a headache, would welcome selling a majority of his stock and remain as a minority puppet, Frick said "No! we want to get Adams all the way in o: all the way out." Adams laughed a humorous chu-chu. He's love to be all the way out, for baseball had never been a primary interest and originally, back in 1927, he'd been hornswoggled into the enterprise by Judge Emil Fuchs—a matter of $189,000 at first, a couple of hundred thousand later on, and dribbles of thousands from time to time. He had never had any fun out of it, as in the case of the Bruins and Suffolk Downs. Naturally he wanted out!

Expects Instant Answer!

WHO ARE THE PROSPECTIVE PURCHASERS? "Sorry," quibbled Frick, "I cannot tell you." What region do they come from? "Sorry," repeated Frick tentaciously, "I cannot tell you," then relenting he added, "but they are real blood-and-bones people with a sock full."

How long before he'd have an answer? "O," said Frick, expelling his breath with a "give-me-strength" attitude—for he was trying to syphon up all the information he could and make a 1:30 p. m. train, "I will contact them immediately! I ought to know right away." It wasn't like selling a yard of dress goods or an outfit of bathroom fittings. It took time, pros and cons of argument, revaluations, legal matters of transfer. "I hope pretty soon," he said.

So that's where matters stand today with the Bees, as Ford Frick takes his financial data back to New York and gives his nibblers something to digest. "I'm not peddling the property," he hastened to assure me. "I'm just acting as an agent without commission or other interest than to see the League strengthened."

So here's hoping that within a few weeks the frozen finance and pauperized condition of the Bees will be relieved with a new set of sugar papas, capable of removing Boston as a League soft spot and giving the Bees their rightful place in the sun. It'll take a little doing!

Rock Preps For Meeting

SALEM, N. H., June 19—Rockingham Park is being prepared for the opening of its eighth season as a major race track.

The summer meeting will cover a 24-day racing period, opening on July 29th and closing on August 24th. The stake book for the meeting has been issued by Racing Secretary John P. Turner, and work on the grounds will be completed a week before the opening to make the old Rock the most modern little race course in the country.

Eight stake races will be run, one each Wednesday and one each Saturday, and they will range in value from $2500 up to $5000. Modest stakes they will be, in line with the Rockingham policy, but old they will be—the oldest in New England.

Medford Fights Draw Top Flight Amateurs

Entries pouring into Promoter Frankie Moore indicate a top flight program for the opening show of the 101st Infantry at Riverside Park, Medford, next Monday night when the cream of the amateurs will get the summer schedule under way.

The heavyweight division promises first rate competition with such top fighters as John Pretzie, Boston; Jerry Murnone, Dorchester, and Pat Dupree, Boston, already in the fold.

FRENCH SHIPS, PLANES RACE FOR AFRICA

Decide France's Fate---

Hailed by thousands as they ride through the streets of Munich, Germany, Premier Mussolini (left) and Reichsfuehrer Hitler speed on to start conference, which lasted almost four hours, to decide what demands they would make of war-broken France. Terms of the dictators' decision were not immediately revealed, but France was expected to hear her fate by tonight.
